

Madrid Votes Bonds

NEW MADRID - A civic committee brought a vote of 72 per cent of its 1,100 eligible voters, Friday to pass overwhelmingly the two revenue bond issues, totaling $210 million, for the Noranda Aluminum Inc. industrial complex.

The first issue on the ballot was an $95 million industrial issue to construct the St. Jude Industrial Park site consisting of 3,200 acres, of the Noranda complex. It passed 752 to one.

The second issue was a $115 electrical issue to construct a steam generating plant at the park, to furnish electricity for the plant. It passed 754 to one.

Voting was at three polling places, the city council room, court house basement and the grade school.

The committee made transportation available to all voters to swell voting interest on one of the hottest days of the summer.

Fifty absentee ballots were voted. They will be counted later.

Ike Has New Series of Irregular Beats

WASHINGTON (AP) - Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower suffered new attacks of irregular and rapid heart beats early Saturday, his doctors at the Army's Walter Reed hospital announced.

In a statement released at 11 a.m. EDT the doctors said:

"After a very good day and night, Gen. Eisenhower again had a recurrence of marked cardiac irritability this morning with frequent extra beats and two short episodes of very rapid heart action. He is now resting comfortably but remains in critical condition."

Walter Reed doctors have explained that the term heart irritability means irregular and rapid heart beats, which is considered a dangerous symptom for the 77-year-old five-star general fighting to overcome effects of his seventh heart attack.

Saturday's medical report was the first indication of renewed difficulties in Eisenhower's battle for survival over the past 24 hours. Medical bulletins Friday emphasized that the general remained in critical condition but said his condition generally was stable.

The word "encouraging" had appeared Friday in a condition report.

Clinic Needs Volunteers

The Regional Diagnostic Clinic needs volunteers to work three hour shifts Wednesday through next Saturday. The shifts will begin at 6 a.m. The last shift will end at 9 p.m.

Sevent members of the staff will be on vacation. Anyone who will work should telephone Mrs. Dale White, 471-4210 or 471-5239, or Mrs. John Bryant, 471-0309, by Sunday night. Mrs. Bryant can be reached after 5 p.m.

Delegate Seating Disputes Unsettled

CHICAGO (AP) - Georgia remained a puzzle on the Democratic Credentials Committee's mind today as the panel closed a grueling week of public hearings with a move to unseat Alabama delegates who work for the third-party presidential bid of ex-Gov. George C. Wallace.

Committee Chairman Harold J. Hughes took time out from his Georgia peace-making efforts to announce that a modified loyalty oath would be slipped on Alabama's delegates to next week's Democratic National Convention.

The oath "is sort of a pledge against disloyalty," the New Jersey governor said as he ended five days of 10 to 14-hour public on an unprecedented flood of seating contests. Except for closing the gap between two rival Georgia delegations, all that remained was a meeting with the Democratic National Committee and an executive session to work on a final report that Hughes said would "probe very deeply into party reforms."

It might, he said, recommend changes in the way delegates

Jamie Sue Carney Wins Little Miss Dexter Title

By WARREN SOKOLIS
DEXTER - Jamie Sue Carney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Carney, was named Little Miss Dexter Friday night at the high school auditorium.

First runnerup was Debbie Purcelli, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Purcelli. Second runnerup was Kimberly Worley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Worley.

Sixty-two contestants were entered. The queen was crowned by Kathy Triplett, retiring Little Miss Dexter. The contest was sponsored by the Stoddard County Soroptimist club. This is the 10th year the club has sponsored the contest.

Proceeds went to the Dexter Memorial Hospital fund and to the Stoddard County, Bloomfield and Dexter scholarship funds. Last year the club donated $1,250 to the hospital fund.

Mistress of ceremonies was Miss Dale Teachout. The welcome was given by Mrs. Joe Welborn of Bloomfield, club president. Accompanist was Mrs. Ruth Finney, and entertainment was provided by the Alysce Rainey dancers.

Other contestants were Dana Adams, Laurie Ann Anderson, Tonda Barker, Deanna Barks, Dianne Becker, Resa Lynn Bess, Carla Lee Capps, Kimberly Cooksey and Rhonda Lynn Cooper.

Demo War Critics Adopt Plank

CHICAGO (AP) - Critics of the Vietnam War have agreed on a plank calling for early peace and promised to fight for its adoption at the Democratic Convention.

They pledged an appeal to the convention itself if—as expected—they are outvoted in the official platform committee. Such a fight could delay the presidential and vice presidential nominations next week.

The plank, announced Friday night, is acceptable to Sen. Eugene McCarthy and Sen. George McGovern but appears unacceptable to Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, the frontrunner for the nomination.

It includes four major points: 1. An end to all bombing of North Vietnam, while continuing to provide in the South all necessary air and other support for U.S. troops. 2. Phased, mutual withdrawal of all U.S. forces and all North Vietnamese troops from South Vietnam over "a relatively short period of time."

3. Encouraging South Vietnam to negotiate a political reconciliation with the National Liberation Front looking toward a government which is "broadly representative of these and all elements in South Vietnamese society."

4. A cut-back of offensive operations in the Vietnamese countryside such as the search and destroy drive against the Viet Cong "to reduce American casualties and the suffering of Vietnamese civilians" and make possible an early withdrawal of a significant number of U.S. troops.

The proposed plank adds "we are also resolved to have no more Vietnamese." The peace proposal gets its first test today when it is presented to the drafting subcommittee of the official platform committee. The subcommittee is trying to complete by tonight a platform draft for consideration by the committee itself. Supporters of Humphrey and President Johnson's Administration make up an apparently substantial majority both of the subcommittee and the committee. The official draft, accordingly, seems certain to recommend a different plank, setting the stage for a floor fight.

Shows ending tonight; clearing by morning with the low tonight 60 to 65. Sunny or becoming sunny and a little colder Sunday with the high in the 80s. Probability of precipitation 20 per cent tonight.

Steele Woman Killed

A Steele woman was injured fatally and five injured in a two-car collision Friday at 8 p.m. on route F, two miles west of Holland.

Vella Bell, 20, route three, Steele, a passenger in a 1961 Chevrolet, driven by William Bell, 25, route three, Steele, died when the speeding car in which she was riding, was struck in the side by a 1953 Plymouth, driven by Johnny Dilliard, 23, route three, Blytheville, the state patrol reported.

The body of the Bell woman was taken to German Funeral Home in Hayti.

The Dilliard car failed to yield the right-of-way, the patrol said.

Injured in the Bell car — William Thomas, 25, route three Steele, both legs broken and severe cuts; Jean Garrison, 24, route three, Blytheville, broken leg and chest injury. Isaac Smith, 25, route three, Steele, severe cuts on the head.

Dilliard received a broken leg, face and body cuts, and a passenger, Andrew Travier, 29, route three, Steele, had cuts on his head and chest injuries.

The injured were taken to Pemiscot County Memorial hospital in Hayti.

Herbert Sides, 32, St. Louis, is in serious condition in Southeast Missouri hospital, Cape Girardeau, as the result of injuries in a single car accident today at 2:50 a.m. at the city limits of Cape Girardeau.

He was driving a 1961 Chrysler, when he lost control, went over an embankment into a ditch.

Jimmy Spain, 18, Holcomb, driver of a 1966 Honda, was injured in a two-vehicle accident Friday at 2:55 p.m. on highway 25 in Clarkton.

He was passing a 1966 Ford pickup truck, driven by Susan Almand, 16, and made a left turn into a private drive, when he was struck by the Almand car.

Spain received a possible neck injury and scratches on his back, and was taken to Dunklin County Memorial hospital in Kennett.

The Honda driver was given a summons by the patrol for failure to give a signal.

Man Shoots 3 Daughters and Takes Own Life

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) - A 63-year-old father ordered his three young daughters to kneel and say their prayers in a Dallas hotel Friday, then shot all three in the head and killed himself, police said.

One of the girls, Phyllis Cannon, 9, died a few hours after the shooting. Pamela Cannon, 13, and Patricia Cannon, 11, remained in critical condition late Friday night.

Officers said the father, John Overton Cannon of suburban Irving, had been shot in the right temple at close range and that a .32-caliber revolver was clutched in his right hand.

Investigators said Cannon had gone to the home of his estranged wife early Friday afternoon and picked up the girls, ostensibly to buy school clothes.

Pamela told officers they had checked into the hotel room and the father ordered them to kneel and say their prayers. She struggled with him and was shot in the head but managed to get to the hotel lobby.

Bee and Flying Object Injure

Two were treated Friday at Missouri Delta Community hospital.

Steele Man Shot to Death

STEELE - An argument, resulted in the death of Percy Brown, 59, when he was struck by three of six shots fired from a .22 caliber pistol reported to have been fired by Ernestine Gaston, 48, his common law wife, according to Pemiscot county authorities.

The shooting occurred Friday night in a tenant house on one of the farms of Ira Koons, three miles southwest of here.

Authorities said Brown had chased the Gaston woman with a butcher knife.

Brown's body was taken to the German Funeral Home.

Dubcek, Cernik Reportedly Hasler Join Talks in Moscow As Judge

PRAGUE (AP) - Free radio broadcasts said today Soviet chiefs have released liberal Czechoslovak leaders Alexander Dubcek and Oldrich Cernik to join the talks in Moscow over the future of their occupied country.

Dubcek, the popular Communist party chief who halted 20 years of Stalinist-type rule in January, and Cernik, the premier, were arrested soon after Soviet bloc troops invaded Czechoslovakia Tuesday night to crush the liberalization drive.

There has been speculation about their fate ever since. The talks in Moscow opened Friday with President Ludvik Svoboda at the head of an eight-man Czechoslovak delegation. There have been signs he disagreed with the Soviets, presumably over Russian efforts to set up a puppet government in Czechoslovakia.

"Dubcek" is the name defiant Czechoslovaks have been painting on walls and chanting at the occupation troops. The Soviet Union has attacked the party leader as a betrayer of Communist ideals. The Communist hard-liners feared that freedom of the press and other reforms Dubcek installed would lead to liberal ferment in their countries.

Travelers leaving Czechoslovakia said controls are tightening there under the estimated 200,000 Soviet bloc occupation troops and many persons have been arrested.

During curfew hours in Prague Friday night, heavy shooting broke out—20 minutes of sporadic firing, possibly from snipers, followed by five minutes of heavy machine-gun bursts, apparently in response. It was impossible to learn whether there were any casualties from the shooting near the dormitory or from small arms fire heard near Venceslas Square.

In Moscow, official early reports said Svoboda's talks with Kremlin leaders were being conducted "in a frank, comradely atmosphere." The Communist usually use "frank" to mean a clash in viewpoints.

Telling the Czechoslovaks in a radio broadcast to "have trust in me," the 65-year-old Czechoslovak president left for Moscow Friday after reportedly refusing to agree to a Soviet-imposed government under hard-line Communist Alois Indra.

Three high Czechoslovak officials have been identified as willing to collaborate with the occupation forces. Two of them, Indra and Slovak Communist party chief Vasil Bilak, are among the seven men who accompanied Svoboda to Moscow.

In his broadcast Friday, Svoboda told his countrymen, "I expect to be back tonight." But Tass, the official Soviet news agency, said the talks will continue today and Bilak told one newsman: "Svoboda will stay here until negotiations are concluded."

But the president is on record as saying "there is no way back" from freedom for Czechoslovakia. Liberal Czechoslovak Foreign Minister Jiri Hajek, now in New York, said in Brussels Friday Svoboda is a man of great courage, honesty and wisdom, but "he did not choose well those who went with him" to Moscow.

Radio Plzen said a Czechoslovak army spokesman told its interviewer that Soviet troops demanded Friday night that the Czechoslovak garrison hand over their weapons but the Czechoslovak troops refused.

The radio said the Czechoslovak army will stand by Svoboda. Despite the tightening of the occupation, the clandestine radio stations supporting Dubcek have managed to broadcast uncensored news for three days. One station appealed to railway workers to halt a train bringing sophisticated equipment from the Soviet Union to find or jam the free stations.

Other efforts to foil the crackdown include changing street signs, taking down house numbers and passing around license numbers of known secret police cars.

A Russian-speaking Norwegian newsman reported to his newspaper, Aftenposten, that he interviewed one Russian soldier who conceded his comrades "feel like I do. We shouldn't have come. But I am just a soldier."

The soldier was asked if he expected the anti-Soviet slogans and replied, "No, we thought we came to make it better for the working class," interviewer Per Egil Hegge reported.

The two Communist Eastern European nations that have backed Czechoslovakia's liberalization—Romania and Yugoslavia—both declared their readiness to defend themselves against any attack by their orthodox neighbors.

British newspapers reported Bulgarian and Soviet troops were massing near the Romanian borders and West German Foreign Minister Willy Brandt said Friday night he fears the Soviet bloc hard-liners may swing into Romania.

In the United Nations, Hajek prepared to present Czechoslovakia's case before the U.N. Security Council but waited first for the outcome of the Svoboda talks in Moscow.

The council has before it a resolution asking Secretary-General U Thant to send a special representative to Prague to "seek the release and ensure the personal safety of the Czechoslovak leaders under detention."

Soviet Ambassador Jacob A. Malik has indicated he would veto that resolution, as he did one Friday to condemn the Soviet bloc intervention.

President Johnson appears to have near unanimous support for his policy of relying on diplomacy and world condemnation in efforts to help Czechoslovakia. The President has yet to be directly criticized by a political candidate for his handling of the Soviet-led occupation. There were no publicly dissenting voices after Johnson and top aides briefed 30 top congressional leaders of both parties Friday.

Ribicoff Joins McGovern Camp Highlights Fair

CHICAGO (AP) - Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, a leader in President John F. Kennedy's drive for the White House, jumped today into the vanguard of Sen. George S. McGovern's assault on Hubert H. Humphrey's Democratic National Convention rebud.

The Connecticut Democrat told a news conference he will serve as McGovern's floor manager—the same role he held for Kennedy eight years ago—and predicted, "If Hubert Humphrey fails to get the nomination on the first ballot, the nomination will go to George McGovern."

The vice president is the leading contender for the presidential nomination. The Associated Press poll of delegates shows him with 849 of the 1,132 votes needed. Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy had 475 committed votes, trailed by McGovern with 35, the AP survey shows.

In endorsing the South Dakota Democrat, Ribicoff said, "George McGovern is carrying on the ideals, the philosophy and the programs of Sen. Robert Kennedy, and he brings to this convention a breath of fresh air."

While this tense, hot convention city awaited the arrival Sunday of Humphrey and McCarthy, southerners weighed the possibility of forcing floor fights over the Credentials Committee decision to seat the two rival Georgia delegations and the Rules Committee decision to abolish the unit rule.

Two Arrests for Driving Offense

Robert Lee Tumbleson, 18, Dunn Hotel, was charged by police at 9:45 p.m. Friday with careless and imprudent driving for taking off at a high rate of speed on East Malone.

Robert L. Morphis, 18, 1724 Oklahoma, was charged at 11:45 p.m. Friday with careless and imprudent driving on east Malone.

Clifford Russell Jr., 26, 1401 East Gladys, was arrested by Scott County Deputy Sheriff Eddie Michael Friday on a warrant charging parole violation. Russell is being held at the Sikeston jail.

In other activity, Phyllis Brown, 426 East Kathleen, reported to police at 6 a.m. today that three dresses have been taken from her residence. John Godsey, Charleston, reported to police at 9 a.m. today that a set of imitation mag hucaps were stolen from his car last night between Charleston and Marion, Ill.

Possessed by his own estimate of only about one-tenth of the 1,312 needed for the party Presidential nomination in next week's convention, McGovern strode smugly to a hotel news conference platform Friday evening as the first of the candidates to appear on the sweltering Chicago scene.

If he failed to convince the hard-shelled politicians that he has even a remote change of winding up with the top nomination, he displayed confidence that his belated entry into the fray will help keep Vice President Humphrey from waltzing off with the prize on the first ballot.

McGovern unveiled a proposed Vietnam peace platform plank he said had been personally endorsed by both him and Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., Humphrey's chief rival for the nomination.

It called for a halt in the bombing of North Vietnam, withdrawal of opposing forces from the South, and pressure on the Saigon government to "negotiate a political reconciliation" with the communist National Liberation Front.

This platform plank quickly got an endorsement from a score of the 110 convention platform Committee, with the proviso that if the majority rejects it there will be a fight on the convention floor for its adoption.

Humphrey has opposed an interim coalition government in Saigon and has insisted that Hanoi must make some reciprocal gesture to end the bombing.

Meanwhile, the convention's Rules Committee voted to scrap the unit rule, substituting a "freedom of conscience" proposal to permit all delegates to vote as they want.

Texas, who fought the reform with vows to walk out or to try to launch a drive for President Johnson's renomination, were expected to try to reverse the action on the convention floor.

As a part of a ploy to save the unit rule under which the hefty Texas delegation was pledged to Gov. John Connally as a favorite son, national committeeman Frank C. Erwin said that if a change was made in would spur "growing sentiment" for a move to renominate Johnson.

While Connally said there was sentiment within the Texas delegation to put up Johnson's name, he said it wasn't linked to the unit rule decision.

Highway Bill Signed With Reservations

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - President Johnson has signed into law a controversial $21 billion national highway law extending over the next six years, the Texas White House announced today.

But Johnson did so with an accompanying statement asserting that "forward looking provisions" in the new law were accompanied by "other sections which I believe to be unfortunate, ill-considered and a setback to the cause of conservation."

The President said he would urge Congress to move quickly to correct what he considered major deficiencies in the measure that expands the interstate highway system.

Johnson also complained about the extension of the interstate system "without any serious study" of future needs and said the new law would dilute protection of many park lands.

Rather pointedly, Johnson noted that Congress, in passing an income tax increase, insisted on sharp cuts in federal spending and said "highway projects will not be immune." On balance, Johnson stated, "I believe the good in this bill outweighs the bad" but repeated his wish that Congress repeal "undesirable features."

The measure provides $12.3 billion in new money for the Interstate and other federal-aid roads and also allocates about $9 billion of previously-voted

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) - John D. Hasler resigned Friday as a St. Louis County Circuit judge, ending the need for the impeachment trial that was scheduled to begin Monday in the Missouri Supreme Court.

In his resignation letter to Gov. Warren E. Hearnes, Hasler blamed metropolitan newspapers and "certain political figures" for his troubles.

The Missouri House of Representatives adopted four articles of impeachment against the Republican jurist last June 28 for alleged misconduct, corruption in office and incompetency. The preliminary hearing brought testimony Hasler, 56, had counseled the attractive defendant in a divorce case that was pending in his court.

She is Mrs. Jean Shelby, Poplar Bluff, Mo., blonde being sued for divorce by her husband, Delmar Shelby of St. Ann, Mo. Shelby asked for custody of the three older children, claiming the fourth was not fathered by him. Mrs. Shelby wanted custody of all four.

In his resignation, Hasler said accounts of his involvement with the woman have "been grossly unfair and unwarranted, as has been the expediency with which certain political figures in both parties have seized the opportunity to use the same to advantage in this year of election."

He said "it is my deep conviction that I have done nothing legally or morally wrong, or dishonorable."

He said he felt it is his duty to resign to maintain "the integrity of the judiciary and the esteem in which it is held by that public it serves."

Five years ago another St. Louis County circuit judge, Democrat Virgil A. Poelker, resigned just before his impeachment trial on misconduct charges before the Supreme Court.

Shrine Activity Highlights Fair

SEDALIA, Mo. (AP) - A class of more than 300 novices was initiated into the Missouri Shrine in a statewide ceremony at the Missouri Fair Friday.

Richard Farris of Kansas City, potentate of Ararat Temple, who originated the idea for the ceremony, expressed hope it will be repeated every year in cooperation with the fair.

The Shriners gave a parade of uniformed units, horses, motorcycles and drill teams. An ostrich race was run, with the potentates of the four Missouri temples sponsoring the ostriches. They turned the $2,000 prize money over to the St. Louis Shrine Hospital for Crippled Children.

The Human Development Corp. brought 350 children from Kansas City and gave them a full day at the fair.

A 100-mile stock race featured today's program. Sunday, the final day, will have big racing cars and motorcycle on the track.

In addition, it extends the highway beautification program, a pet project of Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson's, and establishes a greatly broadened system of relocation payments for persons and businesses displaced by road projects.

The Texas White House announced today the presidential signing.

The bill adds 1,500 miles to the 41,000 miles already allocated to the interstate system.

The date for completion of the interstate system is extended two years, to June 30, 1974, by the legislation.

The highway beautification program, while extended, is given only a new $25 million one-year authorization by the measure. Johnson had asked $85 million annually for three years.

Delay for one year, to Jan. 1, 1970, the penalty for states which fail to implement the national highway safety program.

Authorize new programs of $200 million each in the next two years for traffic improvement projects in major cities and of $125 million each in the same period for special categories of rural highways.

Authorize a demonstration program of use of federal highway funds to help build fringe parking facilities in cities.

RELEASE FROM PERSONAL PRISONS

It is in the realm of inter-personal relationships and inner struggle that most of us have our greatest need. Envy, lust, jealousy, anger, pride, and greed - all of these press upon our minds. But Christ came to deal with our real lives, our real problems, and temptations. As He began His ministry He said He came 'to proclaim release to the captives.' As He more and more becomes the organizing center of our lives we are made free.

Gail Dunn Saturday Bride Of Gerald Thomas Conditt

Gail Dunn, daughter of Mrs. Zella Dunn, 834 East Kathleen, and Gerald Thomas Conditt were married at 1 p.m. last Saturday at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Conditt, 915 North Ranney.

The Rev. Henry Smith officiated at the candlelight, double ring ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Dwayne Smith, wore a floorlength gown of silk organza over satin. The dress was made by the bride's sister, Mrs. Dwayne Smith. The bodice featured long bell-shaped sleeves. Embroidered silk organza lilies highlighted the gown. An elbow-length veil was secured by a petal headpiece accented with petals.

She carried a white Bible topped with two white orchids and ribbon streamers tied in lovers' knots.

Miss Linda Conditt, the groom's sister, was maid of honor. Best man was Gary Ozment.

A reception followed. The couple is living at 946 Strouse Ave., Nashville, where both will attend school. Conditt is a house painter for the Nashville Housing Authority and attends Nashville Auto Diesel College. Mrs. Conditt will attend high school.

Out-of-town guests were Diane Foster of San Pedro, Calif., Mr. and Mrs. Paul Szydlowski, Mr. and Mrs. Jere Smith, all of Eureka, and Mrs. Linnie Herring of Dexter.

Faye Dunn, Louise Smith and Peggy Merrick were hostesses at a shower Aug. 12 honoring the former Miss Dunn.

The POWER of FAITH

Outeiro da Gloria, The Church of Our Lady of Glory of the Knoll in Rio de Janeiro, is probably the oldest church still standing in Rio. Rich in history and legend, it has been a symbol of faith to Brazilians for 300 years.

Legend holds that once there existed on the hill a natural grotto with a likeness of the Virgin Mary in it. The people called her Our Lady of Glory. In 1671 a Portuguese named Antonio Caminha set himself up as caretaker of the grotto and built a rustic chapel to shelter the figure. Pilgrims came from far and near to worship at the shrine.

The shrine grew in fame and a Brotherhood of Our Lady of Glory was founded. In 1699 Claudio Gurgel do Amaral, owner of the knoll property, gave it to the brotherhood. Construction of the present church began around 1714.

During the Empire period in Brazil the church was the church of the royalty and the center of religious life in Rio. The Feast of Our Lady of Glory is celebrated each August 15. During the Monarchy the most famous musical directors and singers would participate and celebrated clergymen would preach at the annual festivities.

Because of its prominent location The Church of Our Lady of Glory catches the eye of foreign travelers in Rio. In the quiet of the famous little church and its museum nearby one can reflect on a history of faith.

Gagliano Triples in Tie Breaker

By The Associated Press

If you don't think this is the year of the pitcher you can't expect any help on your side of the argument from Detroit Tiger or New York Yankee hitters. Far from it.

They flubbed a chance—10 of them in fact—to disprove the statement in a dandy five-hour example of futility Friday night before a 1 a.m. curfew forced an end of activities in a 19-inning, 3-3 tie.

That marathon struggle—longest in the American League this year—came after the Yankees used Tom Tresh's two-run homer for a 2-1 victory in the opener of a doubleheader.

Jeff Jackson, Parma, just completed 2 weeks of baseball training at Mickey Owen Baseball School, the largest boys' baseball training school in the world.

The school is located at Miller, Missouri, and is equipped with seven playing fields, four of which are lighted for night play. Boys come to Mickey Owen Baseball School to become either a better hitter, better fielder or pick up advice and hints from experienced coaching personnel.

Jeff played in at least two games per day, weather permitting, following daily practice sessions.

The school, Owen said, has two main objectives. One is to help boys with little or no experience who have been cut from their hometown boys' league teams to develop enough to make those teams the following year. Our second goal is to instruct more experienced boys in the fundamentals of major league plays and positions to make them more valuable to their hometown, league, and school teams.

He will probably feel the same as former Yankee great, Phil Rizzuto, "For any youngster with baseball in his blood, I can't imagine a better experience than with Mickey Owen Baseball School."

What have been the five most notable victories by Coach Dan Devine's football teams in his ten years at Missouri?

A panel of close-to-the-scene sports writers and sportscasters recently pondered this query. Polled by Missouri's Sports Information Office, they were asked to list the five most "significant-and-gratifying" Tiger wins during the Devine era.

Their composite choices (with point totals based on 5 points for a first-place ballot, 4 for second-place, etc.):

1. 1960 - Missouri 41, Oklahoma 19 (54)
2. 1960 - Missouri 21, Navy 14 (46) (1961 Orange Bowl)
3. 1959 - Missouri 20, Michigan 15 (22)
4. 1961 - Missouri 10, Kansas 7 (17)
5. 1963 - Missouri 7, Arkansas 6 (16)

Just missing the cut-off point were the Tigers' 16-0 dispatch of Georgia Tech in the 1962 Bluebonnet bowl, and a 10-7 squeaker over Nebraska here last year.

None of the poll participants agreed 100 percent with the composite result; however, five writers and Coach Devine, who listed his own "top five" selections, had four correct.

They were: Joe McGuff and Dick Wade, Kansas City Star; Bob Broeg, St. Louis Post-Dispatch; Charlie Paulsall, Columbia Tribune; and Marty Eddleman, Springfield Leader-Press.

Devine's list omitted the Arkansas victory over predecessor at Missouri, Frank Broyles. His most-relied wins were:

1. 1960 - Navy; 2. 1959 - Michigan; 3. 1960 - Oklahoma; 4. 1961 - Kansas; 5. 1967 - Nebraska.

The nation's fourth-most successful coach, who grew up in Proctor, Minn., admittedly found it difficult to exclude the 6-0 triumph over Minnesota's 1961 Rose Bowl champions at Minneapolis, or the 10-7 upset of Oklahoma at Norman in 1964. Devine also had warm remembrances of a pair of 1958 victories, his first year in Columbia, over Kansas State and Colorado.

The 1960 win over Oklahoma drew five first-place ballots, and six second-place nominations. Halfback Norris Stevenson's two long touchdown runs staked the Tigers to their first win at Norman in 20 years, and boosted them into the nation's No. 1 spot with a 9-0 record.

The pollsters hailed the scuttling of Navy and Joe Bellino — the Heisman trophy winner — as a prestige accomplishment. Missouri's first bowl win was highlighted by a bristling defensive effort that held Navy to minus-8 rushing yards, and Bellino to a 4-yard net.

The rousing finish at Michigan probably has to be rated Devine's most dramatic win. Behind reserve quarterback Bob Haas, the Bengals traveled 78 yards in two minutes, with Haas scoring on a sneak with two seconds to play.

Ron Taylor hobbled off the bench to direct an injury-riddled Tiger team to a second-half comeback against Kansas at Lawrence in '61. Halfback Bill Tobin scored all 10 of Missouri's points to knock K. U. out of major-bowl contention.

The pattern against sixth-ranked Arkansas also involved a fierce turnaround in the second half. A rugged defense, led by end George Seals and guard Ralph Kubinski, had compatible help from sophomore quarterback Gary Lane and halfback Monroe Phelps on the attack. Lane hit end Bud Abell with a key pass deep in Razor back territory. Gus Otto plunged for the score, and specialist Bill Leistritz booted the winning point.

Four of those key figures in that win are still active in professional football ranks — Seals with Chicago, Lane with Cleveland, Abell with Kansas City, and Otto with Oakland.

El Paso, Tex., Drops Opener at Farmington

FARMINGTON, N. M. (AP) Eugene, Ore., and Chicago, Ill., took first round victories Friday as the Connie Mack World Series baseball tournament opened here.

In more first round action today, the two Connie Mack teams with the best records collided in an afternoon game.

Nashville, Tenn., which won 53 and lost 8 in the regular season, was to meet Cincinnati, winner of 44 games with only three losses.

In tonight's last first round game, host Farmington plays Bridgeport, Conn.

Eugene rallied for four runs in the sixth inning to defeat Downey, Calif., 5-3, Chicago put together the pitching of Bill Henderson and five El Paso errors for a 8-3 victory over the Texas team.

El Paso the South Plains Regional winner at Sikeston, Mo., and Downey meet in tonight's second game in loser's bracket action in the double-elimination tournament.

Phil Gagliano stroked one hit in five times to the plate against Pittsburgh last night, but it was a triple, and it couldn't have been more timely.

It came with two out of the eleventh inning, and the score was 2-2. Gagliano lined it to right center for a 3-2 final, scoring Mike Shannon, who was on base after being hit by a pitch from Ron Kline.

There was another hero-Redbird last night. Orlando Cepeda tied the game in the sixth with a 2-run homer.

The Pirates' scores came in the second and sixth innings. A throwing error by Julian Javier in the second allowed Roberto Clemente to score as the Cardinal second baseman tried to complete a double play to first.

In the sixth, Maury Wills scored from third when Javier watched Clemente's grounder go through his legs. Bob Gibson 18-5 was scheduled to go after his 19th straight win this afternoon against the Pirates' Bob Moose 5-8.

Military Academy Construction Project

GOING UP — This sketch is an artist's concept of a $15 million-plus academic building to be constructed at the U.S. Military Academy.

WEST POINT, N.Y. (ANF) — The U.S. Military Academy announced this month that contracts have been awarded for two construction projects totaling nearly $22 million.

A nine-story academic building and a family housing complex will be built as part of West Point's expansion plan to keep pace with its growing enrollment. The Corps of Cadets is expected to increase from 2,529 to 4,417 by 1972.

The Gothic-styled academic building, a $15,291,200 project, will provide classroom, laboratory and office space. It will also have a 450-seat auditorium.

The other contract, for $6,387,500, calls for the construction of a 200-unit housing project for Military Academy personnel.

A premixed, premeasured packet of lawn and garden sprays can eliminate a messy chore.

One company offers five different spray formulations for plants. Each is premeasured to make one gallon, then sealed in water-soluble packets for safety and convenience.

The gardener puts the packet in his sprayer or bucket and adds water. The plastic container and powder quickly dissolve, and the preparation is ready to apply to fruit trees, flowers, shrubs or vegetables.

The item is called Pop-in, from Encap Products.

Too Rich a Diet
Plant pathologists say that too rich a plant-food diet in early spring can cause trouble in a bluegrass lawn. The problem is called "melting out" disease.

The Connecticut Agricultural Experiment Station says heavy applications of nitrogen fertilizer in May, when the weather may be cloudy and cool, makes bluegrass grow so rapidly that the sugar content of the grass is kept low.

Low sugar content may leave bluegrass open to attack by the fungus called melting out, resulting in brown patches of dead grass. The situation is worsened by close cutting of the lawn during the period of heavy growth.

When bluegrass is mowed to one inch or less, the turf produces less sugar from photosynthesis, leaving less leaf area. But at the same time, the grass is using sugar rapidly to grow more tillers and new leaves.

When the grass is mowed to 2 inches or taller, melting out is less of a problem.

The station said that adequate moisture and fertility during clear weather following overcast periods speeds recovery from melting out.

Dr. Raymond J. Lukens advised that fertilizers be applied at moderate rates late in spring where melting out is a problem, or that the nitrogen in the fertilizer be in forms slowly available.

Lukens suggests restraint of the spring urge to impress neighbors by lavishing excessive care on the lawn. In effect, let the grass grow taller.

Isadora Hatley vs. John W. Hatly, divorce granted and the plaintiff's maiden name of Payne restored.

Larry Joe Myers vs. Carolyn Myers, divorce granted and the defendant's maiden name of Littlejohn restored.

Linda Jean McClendon vs. Harold Ray McClendon, divorce granted and the plaintiff's maiden name of Linda Jean Blumenberg restored.

Alice Elizabeth Cochran vs. Leland Grinn Cochran, divorce granted and plaintiff's maiden name of Elrod restored.

The Prayer
from
The Upper Room

If, when ye do well, and suffer for it, ye take it patiently, this is acceptable with God. (1 Peter 2:20)

PRAYER: O God, we thank Thee because Thou dost love us. Amid our experience of suffering, help us to learn that Thou art our Father, and that aside from Thee life has no meaning. We seek Thy guidance in the name of Christ, Thy beloved Son. Amen.

Marriage
Licenses

BENTON: These marriage licenses have been recorded with John Bollinger:

Gary Leon Grawett, 18, of Oran, and Teresa Gale Underwood, 15, of Scott City, were married in Scott City by Rev. Don B. Rogers, Jr.

My husband has been telling me he goes fishing with two buddies. Now I wonder if the three of them are up to something or is it just my husband and he is lying about the other two fellows. Should I check with their wives? What does this smell like to you? -- AGNES

Dear Ag: It smells fishy. But keep it in the family, please. Calling the wives will not improve the aroma.

Give your husband the receipt and tell him it was not necessary for him to buy fish if his luck was bad. He'll love you for letting him off the hook -- and there just might be a chance that he is not guilty.

Dear Ann Landers: Please

Looking Back

Mary Thomas to Union

50 years ago

August 24, 1918

Miss Mary Thomas has resigned her position as teacher in the local grade school and accepted a position as commercial teacher in the high school at Union, Mo.

C. E. Felker sold the house on Greer street, belonging to P.H. Gross, to E. F. Mouser, this week. Mr. Mouser will occupy the property as soon as it is vacated.

X. Schneider received word last Monday that a younger brother, C. M. Schneider of Detroit, Mich., had dropped dead while at his work in the railroad yards in the city Tuesday, July 16th. Death was due to heart disease.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Pat C. Davis, August 16th, a son.

40 years ago

August 24, 1928

Funeral services for Mrs. Marjorie Smith, wife of Charles M. Smith, sr., were held from the Sikeston Methodist Church Friday morning.

George Dempster, jr., underwent a slight operation on his nose in a Cairo hospital Tuesday.

Miss Mildred Stubblefield will leave Sunday for Overland, Mo., where she has accepted a position in the public schools of that place.

30 years ago

August 24, 1938

Neighbors of Mrs. M. G. Thomas gave her a surprise shower Wednesday afternoon as a farewell gift. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas will soon move to the property on Ruth that they recently purchased.

Mrs. Pleas Malcolm entertained at dinner Tuesday evening in honor of the birth anniversary of her husband.

Mary Lucille Marshall returned Sunday from St. Louis, where she had been visiting relatives. She will be 10 years old September 18, the day the Standard editor will be 75 and we expect to have a birthday dinner together at the Marshall Hotel Coffee shop.

20 years ago

August 24, 1948

It'll be back to school on September 7 for pupils in Sikeston, according to Supt. Van Bibber, with enrollment for high school students to begin next Tuesday.

Miss Electa Shankle, daughter of Mrs. Edna Shankle and granddaughter of Mrs. John O'Hara, returned to Sikeston last Friday after receiving her discharge in New York City from the Army Exchange Service.

Husband Comes Home with Fish
And A Story Which Matches

Dear Ann Landers: Every Saturday morning for the past month my husband has been getting up at 5:30 a.m. to go fishing -- he said. He always comes home the following day at noon--with beautiful fish and a report on what a great time he had. I was especially pleased because the fish were cleaned and I didn't have the mess in my kitchen.

This morning I was turning his pockets inside out before I put the pants in the washer and I ran into a receipt for $6 worth of pike from a local market. The fish was purchased last Saturday.

My husband has been telling me he goes fishing with two buddies. Now I wonder if the three of them are up to something or is it just my husband and he is lying about the other two fellows. Should I check with their wives? What does this smell like to you? -- AGNES

Dear Ag: It smells fishy. But keep it in the family, please. Calling the wives will not improve the aroma.

Give your husband the receipt and tell him it was not necessary for him to buy fish if his luck was bad. He'll love you for letting him off the hook -- and there just might be a chance that he is not guilty.

Dear Ann Landers: Please

If You Were the Judge

Sight of Worm in Food Grounds for Suit

By Jack Strauss,
LL.B.

Audrey was an attractive blonde who knew how to prepare an attractive meal. While giving a dinner party one night, however, she came face to face with an unattractive looking worm that was embedded in a kernel of corn. Turning white, the gorgeous girl suddenly became disgorgeous and sued the company that had prepared and distributed the can of corn for the roller-coasting of her stomach.

"As far as I'm concerned," she told the judge, "the early bird that catches the worm can have it. The one I saw made me weak for a week."

"If she had found half of a worm," responded the attorney for the canning company, "I would understand her suing my client. As it is, however, she didn't eat the worm, she didn't bite it and she didn't take it into her mouth. All she did was to look at it. Therefore, she's not entitled to collect anything."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you permit Audrey to collect for her confrontation with the worm?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! He held that a person can collect for fright and physical upset caused by seeing a foreign substance, such as a worm, in food.

Farm Labor
Bulletin

STATE SUMMARY

Rain over most of the state has curtailed farming activities. Missouri grape harvest will start from August 26 to September 1, 1968. Central Missouri is preparing for a large grape harvest. No outside labor will be used due to lack of housing. Apple harvest will start August 26, 1968, with adequate labor. Shortage of year-round farm hands continues with 73 openings. No surplus labor reported.

SOUTHEAST

Cape Girardeau: 231 North Main Street - Telephone: Edgewater 5-6666. Hay hauling, weed chopping and fruit harvest are main activities at present. Adequate local labor available. No shortage of labor expected to develop until after school starts. Recruitment of cannery labor continues with 20 workers needed about August 25 for the State of Wisconsin.

Caruthersville: 300 Ward Street - Telephone: Edison 3-2416. Scattered showers and thundershowers over the area this week were very beneficial to all crops. Cotton will not require any more moisture but soybeans will benefit from occasional showers. Very little farm activities going on at this time. A few crews will be leaving this area next week for the apple harvest.

Kennett: 405 St. Francis Street - Telephone: 888-4518. Local showers over the entire county continue to improve the soybean crops. Signs of insect infestation are being watched very closely, very little spraying being done at this time and most of this is aerial. The peach harvest reached its peak this week with good quality and quantity prevailing. The demand continues to be fair for watermelons, mostly the smaller Charleston Gray varieties. Cotton continues to improve its fruiting and is receiving ample moisture at this time. Local labor supply meeting the demand.

Poplar Bluff: 211 Pine Street - Telephone: 785-9606. Local showers have been falling over most of this local area. All crops are in good condition. No labor available for out-of-area referral.

Sikeston: 202 South Kinghighway Telephone: Granite 1-2731. Limited demands for bean chopping being done by on-farm workers. No outside workers needed and no labor available for out-area work.

Type of Workers Needed, Unfilled Openings, Wage Range; Couples, Wife not Working, $1.25 per hr., House and bonus. Couples, Wife not working, $1.50 per wk., house and bonus. Single Farm Hand, $1.25 per hour, Farm Equipment Operator, $1.50 per week plus house and bonus.

Farm Labor Information Station and Rest Camp, Route 2, Sikeston

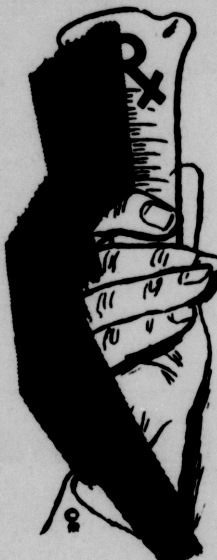

The Camp served 115 migrants last week with 21 enroute to Indiana, 18 to Ohio and 76 to Texas.

West Plains: 111 Walnut Street - Telephone: 256-3158. Area has received rain, crops in good condition. Doing some job development on several farm hands in North Missouri and Iowa.

Type of Workers Needed, Unfilled Openings, Wage Range; Head Sawyer, $1.25 per hour and Commute, Farm Hand, Poultry, $1.60 hr., and Commute.

Today In U.S. History

By The Associated Press
Today is Saturday, Aug. 24, the 237th day of 1968. There are 129 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this in 1814, British troops captured Washington, D.C., and burned the capitol and White House.

On this date: In 79 A.D., an eruption of Mount Vesuvius in Italy buried the ancient cities of Pompeii and Herculaneum.

In 1777, during the American Revolution, troops led by George Washington entered Philadelphia.

In 1862, a Confederate army under General Braxton Bragg invaded Kentucky during the Civil War.

In 1891, Thomas A. Edison applied for a patent for a motion picture machine.

In 1932, Amelia Earhart Putnam became the first woman to make a transcontinental nonstop flight, landing at Newark, N.J., 19 hours after taking off from Los Angeles.

In 1964, President Getulio Vargas of Brazil killed himself after his government had been overthrown by the Brazilian army.

Ten years ago - Racial violence erupted in Nottingham, England, as hundreds of whites and Negroes fought.

Five years ago - The government of South Vietnam closed Saigon University and all public and private secondary schools as student unrest mounted.

One year ago - Industrialist Henry J. Kaiser died at the age of 85.

Madrid Votes Bonds

NEW MADRID - A civic committee brought a vote of 72 per cent of its 1,100 eligible voters, Friday to pass overwhelmingly the two revenue bond issues, totaling $210 million, for the Noranda Aluminum Inc. industrial complex.

The first issue on the ballot was an $95 million industrial issue to construct the St. Jude Industrial Park site consisting of 3,200 acres, of the Noranda complex. It passed 752 to one.

The second issue was a $115 electrical issue to construct a steam generating plant at the park, to furnish electricity for the plant. It passed 754 to one.

Voting was at three polling places, the city council room, court house basement and the grade school.

The committee made transportation available to all voters to swell voting interest on one of the hottest days of the summer.

Fifty absentee ballots were voted. They will be counted later.

Ike Has New

Series of Irregular Beats

WASHINGTON (AP) - Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower suffered new attacks of irregular and rapid heart beats early Saturday, his doctors at the Army's Walter Reed hospital announced.

In a statement released at 11 a.m. EDT the doctors said:

"After a very good day and night, Gen. Eisenhower again had a recurrence of marked cardiac irritability this morning with frequent extra beats and two short episodes of very rapid heart action. He is now resting comfortably but remains in critical condition."

Walter Reed doctors have explained that the term heart irritability means irregular and rapid heart beats, which is considered a dangerous symptom for the 77-year-old five-star general fighting to overcome effects of his seventh heart attack.

Saturday's medical report was the first indication of renewed difficulties in Eisenhower's battle for survival over the past 24 hours. Medical bulletins Friday emphasized that the general remained in critical condition but said his condition generally was stable.

The word "encouraging" had appeared Friday in a condition report.

Clinic Needs Volunteers

The Regional Diagnostic Clinic needs volunteers to work three hour shifts Wednesday through next Saturday. The shifts will begin at 6 a.m. The last shift will end at 9 p.m.

Several members of the staff will be on vacation.

Anyone who will work should telephone Mrs. Dale White, 471-4210 or 471-5239, or Mrs. John Bryant, 471-0309, by Sunday night. Mrs. Bryant can be reached after 5 p.m.

Delegate Seating Disputes Unsettled

CHICAGO (AP) - Georgia remained a puzzle on the Democratic Credentials Committee's mind today as the panel closed a grueling week of public hearings with a move to unseat Alabama delegates who work for the third-party presidential bid of ex-Gov. George C. Wallace.

Committee Chairman Harold J. Hughes took time out from his Georgia peace-making efforts to announce that a modified loyalty oath would be slipped on Alabama's delegates to next week's Democratic National Convention.

The oath "is sort of a pledge against disloyalty," the New Jersey governor said as he ended five days of 10 to 14-hour public on an unprecedented flood of seating contests.

Except for closing the gap between two rival Georgia delegations, all that remained was a meeting with the Democratic National Committee and an executive session to work on a final report that Hughes said would "probe very deeply into party reforms."

It might, he said, recommend changes in the way delegates

JAMIE SUE CARNEY, center, was named Little Miss Dexter last night. Seated are Kimberly Worley, left, second runnerup, and Debbie Purcelli, first runnerup. Standing are Gregory Banken, who escorted the queen, and Kathy Triplett, retiring Little Miss Dexter.

Jamie Sue Carney Wins Little Miss Dexter Title

By WARREN SOKOLIS
DEXTER - Jamie Sue Carney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Carney, was named Little Miss Dexter Friday night at the high school auditorium.

First runnerup was Debbie Purcelli, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Purcelli. Second runnerup was Kimberly Worley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Worley.

Sixty-two contestants were entered.

The queen was crowned by Kathy Triplett, retiring Little Miss Dexter. The contest was sponsored by the Stoddard County Soroptimist club. This is the 10th year the club has sponsored the contest.

Proceeds went to the Dexter Memorial Hospital fund and to the Stoddard County, Bloomfield and Dexter scholarship funds. Last year the club donated $1,250 to the hospital fund.

Mistress of ceremonies was Miss Dale Teachout. The welcome was given by Mrs. Joe Welborn of Bloomfield, club president. Accompanist was Mrs. Ruth Finney, and entertainment was provided by the Alyce Rainey dancers.

Other contestants were Dana Adams, Laurie Ann Anderson, Tonda Barker, Deanna Barks, Dianne Becker, Resa Lynn Bess, Carla Lee Capps, Kimberly Cooksey and Rhonda Lynn Cooper.

Demo War Critics Adopt Plank

CHICAGO (AP) - Critics of the Vietnam War have agreed on a plank calling for early peace and promised to fight for its adoption at the Democratic Convention.

They pledged an appeal to the convention itself if—as expected—they are outvoted in the official platform committee. Such a fight could delay the presidential and vice presidential nominations next week.

They are selected, an issue in more than half of the cases heard this week.

The Georgia solution, worked out in a series of angry, closed-door debates, was a committee decision to seat portions of two rival delegations. It would freeze out Gov. Lester Maddox, a Wallace sympathizer and a late entry into the Democratic race.

But it ran into strong objections from Maddox, who threatened a floor fight.

Sources close to the competing delegation headed by Negro Georgia legislator Julian Bond reported a willingness to accept the committee decision, provided a list of acceptable delegates can be agreed upon.

If there was no agreement by Saturday afternoon, Hughes said, Georgia's total votes at the convention might have to be reduced.

On its final public day, the committee unanimously rejected challenges to the Indiana and Michigan delegations, and put down one to North Carolina with 20 negative votes.

Taskwood turns dark when changes in the way delegates

The plank, announced Friday night, is acceptable to Sen. Eugene McCarthy and Sen. George McGovern but appears unacceptable to Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, the frontrunner for the nomination.

It includes four major points: 1. An end to all bombing of North Vietnam, while continuing to provide in the South all necessary air and other support for U.S. troops.

2. Phased, mutual withdrawal of all U.S. forces and all North Vietnamese troops from South Vietnam over "a relatively short period of time."

3. Encouraging South Vietnam to negotiate a political reconciliation with the National Liberation Front looking toward a government which is "broadly representative of these and all elements in South Vietnamese society."

4. A cut-back of offensive operations in the Vietnamese countryside such as the search and destroy drive against the Viet Cong "to reduce American casualties and the suffering of Vietnamese civilians" and make possible an early withdrawal of a significant number of U.S. troops.

The proposed plank adds "we are also resolved to have no more Vietnamese."

The peace proposal gets its first test today when it is presented to the drafting subcommittee of the official platform committee. The subcommittee is trying to complete by tonight a platform draft for consideration by the committee itself. Supporters of Humphrey and President Johnson's Administration make up apparently substantial majorities both of the subcommittee and the committee. The official draft, accordingly, seems certain to recommend a different plank, setting the stage for a floor fight.

Steele Man Shot to Death

STEELE - An argument, resulted in the death of Percy Brown, 59, when he was struck by three of six shots fired from a .22 caliber pistol reported to have been fired by Ernestine Gaston, 48, his common law wife, according to Pemiscot county authorities.

The shooting occurred Friday night in a tenant house on one of the farms of Ira Koonitz, three miles southwest of here.

Authorities said Brown had chased the Gaston woman with a butcher knife.

Brown's body was taken to the Brown Funeral Home.

Steele Woman Killed

A Steele woman was injured fatally and five injured in a two-car collision Friday at 8 p.m. on route F, two miles west of Holland.

Vella Bell, 20, route three, Steele, a passenger in a 1961 Chevrolet, driven by William Bell, 25, route three, Steele, died when the speeding car in which she was riding was struck in the side by a 1953 Plymouth, driven by Johnny Dilliard, 23, route three, Blytheville, the state patrol reported.

The body of the Bell woman was taken to German Funeral Home in Hayti.

The Dilliard car failed to yield the right-of-way, the patrol said.

Injured in the Bell car — William Thomas, 25, route three Steele, both legs broken and severe cuts; Jean Garrison, 24, route three, Blytheville, broken leg and chest injury. Isaac Smith, 25, route three, Steele, severe cuts on the head.

Dilliard received a broken leg, face and body cuts, and a passenger, Andrew Travier, 29, route three, Steele, had cuts on his head and chest injuries.

The injured were taken to Pemiscot County Memorial hospital in Hayti.

Herbert Sides, 32, St. Louis, is in serious condition in Southeast Missouri hospital, Cape Girardeau, as the result of injuries in a single car accident today at 2:50 a.m. at the city limits of Cape Girardeau.

He was driving a 1961 Chrysler, when he lost control, went over an embankment into a ditch.

Jimmy Spain, 18, Holcomb, driver of a 1966 Honda, was injured in a two-vehicle accident Friday at 2:55 p.m. on highway 25 in Clarkton.

He was passing a 1966 Ford pickup truck, driven by Susan Almond, 16, and made a left turn into a private drive, when he was struck by the Almond car.

Spain received a possible neck injury and scratches on his back, and was taken to Dunklin County Memorial hospital in Kennett.

The Honda driver was given a summons by the patrol for failure to give a signal.

Man Shoots 3 Daughters and Takes Own Life

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) - A 63-year-old father ordered his three young daughters to kneel and say their prayers in a Dallas hotel Friday, then shot all three in the head and killed himself, police said.

One of the girls, Phyllis Cannon, 9, died a few hours after the shooting. Pamela Cannon, 13, and Patricia Cannon, 11, remained in critical condition late Friday night.

Officers said the father, John Overton Cannon of suburban Irving, had been shot in the right temple at close range and that a .32-caliber revolver was clutched in his right hand.

Investigators said Cannon had gone to the home of his estranged wife early Friday afternoon and picked up the girls, ostensibly to buy school clothes.

Pamela told officers they had checked into the hotel room and the father ordered them to kneel and say their prayers. She struggled with him and was shot in the head but managed to get to the hotel lobby.

Bee and Flying Object Injure

Dubcek, Cernik Reportedly Join Talks in Moscow

PRAGUE (AP) - Free radio broadcasts said today Soviet chiefs have released liberal Czechoslovak leaders Alexander Dubcek and Oldrich Cernik to join the talks in Moscow over the future of their occupied country.

Dubcek, the popular Communist party chief who halted 20 years of Stalinist-type rule in January, and Cernik, the premier, were arrested soon after Soviet bloc troops invaded Czechoslovakia Tuesday night to crush the liberalization drive. There has been speculation about their fate ever since.

The talks in Moscow opened Friday with President Ludvik Svoboda at the head of an eight-man Czechoslovak delegation. There have been signs he disagreed with the Soviets, presumably over Russian efforts to set up a puppet government in Czechoslovakia.

"Dubcek" is the name defiant Czechoslovaks have been painting on walls and chanting at the occupation troops.

The Soviet Union has attacked the party leader as a betrayer of Communist ideals. The Communist hard-liners feared that freedom of the press and other reforms Dubcek installed would lead to liberal ferment in their countries.

Travelers leaving Czechoslovakia said controls are tightened there under the estimated 200,000 Soviet bloc occupation troops and many persons have been arrested.

During curfew hours in Prague Friday night, heavy shooting broke out—20 minutes of sporadic firing, possibly from snipers, followed by five minutes of heavy machine-gun bursts, apparently in response.

It was impossible to say whether there were any casualties from the shooting near the dormitory or from small arms fire heard near Venceslas Square.

In Moscow, official early reports said Svoboda's talks with Kremlin leaders were being conducted "in a frank, comradely atmosphere." The Communist usually use "frank" to mean a clash in viewpoints.

Telling the Czechoslovaks in a radio broadcast to "have trust in me," the 65-year-old Czechoslovak president left for Moscow Friday after reportedly refusing to agree to a Soviet-imposed government under hard-line Communist Alois Indra.

Three high Czechoslovak officials have been identified as willing to collaborate with the occupation forces. Two of them, Indra and Slovak Communist party chief Vasil Bilak, are among the seven men who accompanied Svoboda to Moscow.

In his broadcast Friday, Svoboda told his countrymen, "I expect to be back tonight." But Tass, the official Soviet news agency, said the talks will continue today and Bilak told one newsman: "Svoboda will stay here until negotiations are concluded."

The president is on record as saying "there is no way back" from freedom for Czechoslovakia. Liberal Czechoslovak Foreign Minister Jiri Hajek, now in New York, said in Brussels Friday Svoboda is a man of great courage, honesty and wisdom, but "he did not choose well those who went with him" to Moscow.

Radio Pizen said a Czechoslovak army spokesman told its interviewer that Soviet troops demanded Friday night that the Czechoslovak garrison hand over their weapons but the Czechoslovak troops refused.

The radio said the Czechoslovak army will stand by Svoboda.

Despite the tightening of the occupation, the clandestine radio stations supporting Dubcek have managed to broadcast uncensored news for three days.

One station appealed to railway workers to halt a train bringing sophisticated equipment from the Soviet Union to find or jam the free stations.

Other efforts to foil the crackdown include hanging street signs, taking down house numbers and passing around license numbers of known secret police cars.

A Russian-speaking Norwegian newspaper reported that he interviewed one Russian soldier who conceded his comrades "feel like I do. We shouldn't have come. But I am just a soldier."

The soldier was asked if he expected the anti-Soviet slogans and replied, "No, we thought we came to make it better for the working class," interviewer Per Egil Hegge reported.

The two Communist Eastern European nations that have backed Czechoslovakia's liberalization—Romania and Yugoslavia—both declared their readiness to defend themselves against any attack by their orthodox neighbors.

British newspapers reported Bulgarian and Soviet troops were massing near the Romanian borders and West German Foreign Minister Willy Brandt said Friday night he fears the Soviet bloc hard-liners may swing into Romania.

In the United Nations, Hajek prepared to present Czechoslovakia's case before the U.N. Security Council but waited first for the outcome of the Svoboda talks in Moscow.

The council has before it a resolution asking Secretary-General U Thant to send a special representative to Prague to "seek the release and ensure the personal safety of the Czechoslovak leaders under detention."

Soviet Ambassador Jacob A. Malik has indicated he would veto that resolution, as he did one Friday to condemn the Soviet bloc intervention.

President Johnson appears to have near unanimous support for his policy of relying on diplomacy and world condemnation in efforts to help Czechoslovakia. The president has yet to be directly criticized by a political candidate for his handling of the Soviet-led occupation. There were no publicly dissenting voices after Johnson and top aides briefed 30 top congressional leaders of both parties Friday.

He said "it is my deep conviction that I have done nothing legally or morally wrong, or dishonorable."

He said he felt it is his duty to resign to maintain "the integrity of the judiciary and the esteem in which it is held by that public it serves."

Five years ago another St. Louis County circuit judge, Democrat Virgil A. Poelker, resigned just before his misconduct trial on misconduct charges before the Supreme Court.

Hasler Resigns As Judge

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) -

John D. Hasler resigned Friday as a St. Louis County Circuit judge, ending the need for the impeachment trial that was scheduled to begin Monday in the Missouri Supreme Court.

In his resignation letter to Gov. Warren E. Hearnes, Hasler blamed metropolitan newspapers and "certain political figures" for his troubles.

The Missouri House of Representatives adopted four articles of impeachment against the Republican jurist last June 28 for alleged misconduct, corruption in office and incompetency. The preliminary hearing brought testimony from Hasler, 56, had counseled the attractive defendant in a divorce case that was pending in his court.

She is Mrs. Jean Shelby, Poplar Bluff, Mo., blonde being sued for divorce by her husband, Delmar Shelby of St. Ann, Mo. Shelby asked for custody of the three older children, claiming the fourth was not fathered by him. Mrs. Shelby wanted custody of all four.

In his resignation, Hasler said accounts of his involvement with the woman have "been grossly unfair and unwarranted, as has been the expeditious with which certain political figures in both parties have seized the opportunity to use the same to advantage in this year of election."

He said "it is my deep conviction that I have done nothing legally or morally wrong, or dishonorable."

Madrid Votes Bonds

NEW MADRID - A civic committee brought a vote of 72 per cent of its 1,100 eligible voters, Friday to pass overwhelmingly the two revenue bond issues, totaling $210 million, for the Noranda Aluminum Inc. industrial complex.

The first issue on the ballot was an $95 million industrial issue to construct the St. Jude Industrial Park site consisting of 3,200 acres, of the Noranda complex. It passed 752 to one.

The second issue was a $115 electrical issue to construct a steam generating plant at the park, to furnish electricity for the plant. It passed 754 to one.

Voting was at three polling places, the city council room, court house basement and the grade school.

The committee made transportation available to all voters to swell voting interest on one of the hottest days of the summer.

Fifty absentee ballots were voted. They will be counted later.

Ike Has New Series of Irregular Beats

WASHINGTON (AP) - Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower suffered new attacks of irregular and rapid heart beats early Saturday, his doctors at the Army's Walter Reed hospital announced.

In a statement released at 11 a.m. EDT the doctors said:

"After a very good day and night, Gen. Eisenhower again had a recurrence of marked cardiac irritability this morning with frequent extra beats and two short episodes of very rapid heart action. He is now resting comfortably but remains in critical condition."

Walter Reed doctors have explained that the term heart irritability means irregular and rapid heart beats, which is considered a dangerous symptom for the 77-year-old five-star general fighting to overcome effects of his seventh heart attack.

Saturday's medical report was the first indication of renewed difficulties in Eisenhower's battle for survival over the past 24 hours. Medical bulletins Friday emphasized that the general remained in critical condition but said his condition generally was stable.

The word "encouraging" had appeared Friday in a condition report.

Clinic Needs Volunteers

The Regional Diagnostic Clinic needs volunteers to work three hour shifts Wednesday through next Saturday. The shifts will begin at 6 a.m. The last shift will end at 9 p.m.

Several members of the staff will be on vacation. Anyone who will work should telephone Mrs. Dale White, 471-4210 or 471-5239, or Mrs. John Bryant, 471-0309, by Sunday night. Mrs. Bryant can be reached after 5 p.m.

Delegate Seating Disputes Unsettled

CHICAGO (AP) - Georgia remained a puzzle on the Democratic Credentials Committee's mind today as the panel closed a grueling week of public hearings with a move to unseat Alabama delegates who work for the third-party presidential bid of ex-Gov. George C. Wallace.

Committee Chairman Harold J. Hughes took time out from his Georgia peace-making efforts to announce that a modified loyalty oath would be slipped on Alabama's delegates to next week's Democratic National Convention.

The oath "is sort of a pledge against disloyalty," the New Jersey governor said as he ended five days of 10 to 14-hour public sessions.

Except for closing the gap between two rival Georgia delegations, all that remained was a meeting with the Democratic National Committee and an executive session to work on a final report that Hughes said would "probe very deeply into party reforms."

It might, he said, recommend changes in the way delegates

JAMIE SUE CARNEY, center, was named Little Miss Dexter last night. Seated are Kimberly Worley, left, second runnerup, and Debbie Purcelli, first runnerup. Standing are Gregory Banken, who escorted the queen, and Kathy Triplett, retiring Little Miss Dexter.

The President has yet to be directly criticized by a political candidate for his handling of the Soviet-led occupation. There were no publicly dissenting voices after Johnson and top aides briefed 30 top congressional leaders of both parties Friday.

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) - John D. Hasler resigned Friday as a St. Louis County Circuit judge, ending the need for the impeachment trial that was scheduled to begin Monday in the Missouri Supreme Court.

In his resignation letter to Gov. Warren E. Hearnes, Hasler blamed metropolitan newspapers and "certain political figures" for his troubles.

The Missouri House of Representatives adopted four articles of impeachment against the Republican jurist last June 28 for alleged misconduct, corruption in office and incompetency. The preliminary hearing brought testimony Hasler, 56, had counseled the attractive defendant in a divorce case that was pending in his court.

She is Mrs. Jean Shelby, Poplar Bluff, Mo., blonde being sued for divorce by her husband, Delmar Shelby of St. Ann, Mo. Shelby asked for custody of the three older children, claiming the fourth was not fathered by him. Mrs. Shelby wanted custody of all four.

In his resignation, Hasler said accounts of his involvement with the woman have "been grossly unfair and unwarranted, as has been the expediency with which certain political figures in both parties have seized the opportunity to use the same to advantage in this year of election."

He said "it is my deep conviction that I have done nothing legally or morally wrong, or dishonorable."

He said he felt it is his duty to resign to maintain "the integrity of the judiciary and the esteem in which it is held by that public it serves."

Five years ago another St. Louis County circuit judge, Democrat Virgil A. Poelker, resigned just before his impeachment trial on misconduct charges before the Supreme Court.

Shrine Activity Highlights Fair

SEDALIA, Mo. (AP) - A class of more than 300 novices was initiated into the Missouri Shrine in a statewide ceremony at the Missouri Fair Friday.

Richard Farris of Kansas City, potentate of Ararat Temple, who originated the idea for the ceremony, expressed hope it will be repeated every year in cooperation with the fair.

The Shriners gave a parade of uniformed units, horses, motorcycles and drill teams.

An ostrich race was run, with the potentates of the four Missouri temples sponsoring the ostriches. They turned the $2,000 prize money over to the St. Louis Shrine Hospital for Crippled Children.

The Human Development Corp. brought 350 children from Kansas City and gave them a full day at the fair.

A 100-mile stock race featured today's program. Sunday, the final day, will have big racing cars and motorcycle on the track.

Highway Bill Signed With Reservations

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - funds.

President Johnson has signed into law a controversial $21 billion national highway law extending over the next six years, the Texas White House announced today.

But Johnson did so with an accompanying statement asserting that "forward looking provisions" in the new law were accompanied by "other sections which I believe to be unfortunate, ill-considered and a setback to the cause of conservation."

The President said he would urge Congress to move quickly to correct what he considered major deficiencies in the measure that expands the interstate highway system.

Johnson also complained about the extension of the interstate system "without any serious study" of future needs and said the new law would dilute protection of many park lands.

Rather pointedly, Johnson noted that Congress, in passing an income tax increase, insisted on sharp cuts in federal spending and said "highway projects will not be immune." On balance, the street improvements were in good in this bill outweighs the bad" but repeated his wish that Congress repeal "undesirable features."

The measure provides $12.3 billion in new money for the Interstate and other federal-aid roads and also allocates about $9 billion of previously-voted frunds.

In addition, it extends the highway beautification program, a pet project of Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson's, and establishes a greatly broadened system of relocation payments for persons and businesses displaced by road projects.

The Texas White House announced today the presidential signing.

The bill adds 1,500 miles to the 41,000 miles already allocated to the interstate system.

The date for completion of the interstate system is extended two years, to June 30, 1974, by the legislation.

The highway beautification program, while extended, is given only a new $25 million one-year authorization by the measure. Johnson had asked $85 million annually for three years.

Delay for one year, to Jan. 1, 1970, the penalty for states which fail to implement the national highway safety program.

Authorize new programs of $200 million each in the next two years for traffic improvement projects in major cities and of $125 million each in the same period for special categories of rural highways.

Authorize a demonstration program of use of federal highway funds to help build fringe parking facilities in cities.

Saturday, August 24, 1968—Last elephant joke goes off to die.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!
"Western Nations denounce invasion of Czechoslovakia" says a headline in one of the Metropolitan papers Thursday morning.

We'll bet that it worries hell out of Russia so much so that they'll stay right there till they kill all of the rebellion parties.

We can let our boys get killed fighting for people that don't give a damn who rules them but keep our hands off when some people really want freedom from the Communists.

Q. "WHO'S THE WORLD'S top jet fighter ace?" A. Believe Capt. Joseph McConnell still holds that title. He shot down 15 Migs in Korea. . . Q. "FLIES JUST LIVE one day, right?" A. That's only true of one breed - Mayflies. They don't eat anything. In fact, they don't even have mouths. They just dance and mate and drop dead. Some life. . . Q. "WORLD-WIDE, HOW OFTEN does somebody starve to death?" A. Once a minute, almost.

Mother gets the meals, and if daughter helps, it is to prepare some frothy dessert.

THE DATE BOOK: Aug. 26, Democratic National Convention gets underway in Chicago; Aug. 26, 1920 (48 years ago), Nineteenth Amendment gave women the right to vote; Aug. 27, 1883 (85 years ago), A volcanic explosion on Indonesian Island of Krakatoa killed 36,000 persons; Aug. 27, 1908 (60 years ago), Lyndon B. Johnson, 36th president of the U.S. was born; Aug. 28, 1828 (140 years ago), Russian novelist Count Leo Tolstoy was born.

A woman looks at her husband and wonders if she would not have been happier single, then at her children and decides she wouldn't.

A good woman usually prefaces her piece of gossip with the remark: "Isn't it terrible the way people talk scandal?"

"MORE DIVORCES ARE caused by women talking too much than anything else. A man learns at an early age to keep his mouth shut. If he doesn't, somebody is liable to knock his block off. But nobody knocks a little girl's block off, so she says what she pleases for the rest of her life." So contends a justice of the peace named Charles Claypool.

A common thread runs through college student riots. Their college education isn't relevant.

Some of the odd ball protestors don't know what is relevant.

This is particularly true of the pampered youth from well - do - to - do families, whose misguided parents have never made them do a day's work.

In the light of the frequently voiced criticism, the deliberate restructuring of the liberal arts program at Culver - Stockton College at Canton is interesting.

No radical changes were made after a year's faculty study at the small, church - related, liberal arts college. The required courses are in education and psychology, natural science, humanities, social science and fine arts.

One invocation will be in the English requirement. Instead of packing it in the freshman year it will be split.

One semester on spoken and written communication will be taken in the freshman year, a second in the junior year to help maintain and further develop writing skills. A major course in speech will round out the Communications emphasis.

Practical parents may be offended by the emphasis on fine arts.

This is wrong.

The object of a liberal arts education is to teach a student how to make the most of his environment, how to obtain maximum enjoyment from it and to make the greatest contribution to it.

Culture cannot be neglected.

Study of fine arts may appear to be fluff and far removed from the serious business of making a living.

This isn't always true.

If the boss likes Beethoven the employee should at least know that he isn't a Notre Dame fullback.

The new fine arts program will include a lecture course on basic studies in the performing arts and a laboratory type participation in one area of the arts - music, drama or art.

This laboratory experience is particularly desirable in this age of television emphasis, which is producing a crop of watchers instead of a creative and innovative group of youthful doors.

Those, who try to sing, play a musical instrument or draw, will have a greater appreciation of the skill of the masters.

A semester course in health has been added. A related course in psychology will deal with the mental aspects of human behavior.

Among the restructured courses is one on college issues in the education-psychology field. It is designed for freshmen orientation. It deals with use of the library, student habits and school tradition but also will include such topics as religion, drugs, sex and other subjects of concern to college students.

The senior year will be capped with a citizenship and world responsibility course to prepare graduates for life after college.

If more colleges made an effort to update their curriculum they would be in a better position to curb student revolt but that its a problem of secondary importance.

Training a student how to live and be effective in modern society is the purpose of a liberal arts education. Culver - Stockton has taken a step in the right direction. The need for change and adaptation to new requirements of society will continue.

A college cannot rest long on its oars with revolutionary change swirling about it.

Television has caused drastic reforms to be made in the national political conventions.

More reforms are in order to make the spectacle palatable to a majority of Americans.

Brevity and business-like conduct of the public's business are the urgent need of these serious times.

This year the National Broadcasting Company and the Columbia Broadcasting System are giving full coverage to the conventions.

The American Broadcasting Company is not giving full coverage for economy reasons.

It may be that ABC has stumbled onto something very valuable through necessity.

While NBC and CBS are knocking themselves out showing both the important and trivial events of the convention and buttonholing delegates for many interviews that will be a bore, ABC will present convention highlights in between regularly scheduled programs.

Dyed-in-the-wool TV fans don't care much about conventions or in having their regular programs interrupted.

If the ABC convention highlights are of high quality they may prove to be as popular as regular television fare and more so than many standbys. If this happens many viewers will switch from NBC and CBS to ABC.

Political campaigns are too long.

Voters need enough time to inquire about the candidates and to investigate their records and talk over their qualifications with their friends.

Giving them additional time is just as waste of effort and money and puts the candidates to unnecessary expense in order to be competitive.

Minds were made up in Missouri many weeks ago.

The final weeks were given over largely to smears and accusations that contributed nothing to anyone's knowledge and which changed few if any minds.

Most Missourians were weary and tired when election day rolled around.

Heard at the Coffee table: "The only time money goes very far these days is when a quarter rolls under the bed."

A distinguished advertising consultant, after a speech to retailers, was asked to name the outstanding characteristic of good advertising.

"News," he replied without hesitation.

"Advertising which is not news is not advertising. Good advertising contains all the elements of a front page news story. It must contain fresh information which concerns the vital interests of the reader," he said.

In the early days of the newspaper the importance of advertising as news was recognized by giving the front page to advertising and placing other information on inside pages.

In colonial America, the listing of goods arriving from foreign ports was the most exciting of all local news. The health, comfort, and wealth of the whole community were related to ship arrivals.

The arrival of new products to local retail outlets is no longer subject to the hazards of wind and sea. However, news about goods and services may be as exciting as two centuries ago.

Grocery advertisements are compact news stories which affect every family budget. They are studied with more intensity than any other economic news.

Advertising of dress shops contains more practical fashion news than articles originating in Paris or Rome.

The classified sections of local newspapers give a running account of real estate values, employment conditions, population movements, and agricultural and industrial development.

Washington - Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

DREW PEARSON SAYS: Invasion splits communist world asunder; Kremlin hardliners dictated move on Czechoslovakia; Ulbricht feared spread of intellectual revolt to East Germany.

WASHINGTON--In the opinion of this observer, who has visited most of the countries of Eastern Europe, repercussions following the Russian invasion of Czechoslovakia will be threefold:

1. The Communist world has been split wide open, and the split will continue. 2. The attempt on the part of President Johnson to build bridges to the European Communist world will receive a temporary, though not permanent, setback. 3. The people of the Soviet Union, who have developed increasing contacts with the outside world, are almost certain to break out with some form of intellectual revolt. It may not come immediately, but it will come.

In the end, the hard-line in the Kremlin which ordered the Red Army to March into Czechoslovakia will be shown to have committed one of the most serious errors in Soviet history. Mikhail Suslov, No. 1 defender of Josef Stalin and the man primarily responsible for the ouster of Nikita Khrushchev, unquestionably was behind the Red Army order.

Suslov was described by Svetlana Stalin as the most dangerous man in the Kremlin. My own observations in Moscow convince me that he is a consistent, unreconstructed American-hater.

ULBRICHT FORESAW SHOWDOWN
The man next to Suslov responsible for the Czech crisis is weather-beaten, bearded Walter Ulbricht, the hard-line Communist leader of East Germany. Ulbricht paid a courtesy call to Czechoslovakia last week where he was coolly received. Earlier, he was booted in Bratislava.

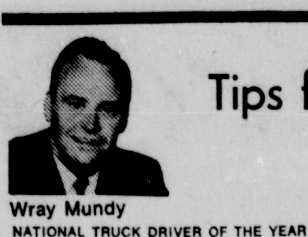

As a result he is reported to have returned to East Berlin more convinced than ever that there must be a showdown between the Soviet, East Germany, and the Orthodox Bulgaria and, for the time being, waiting.

The position of the United States toward Czechoslovakia (for some months has been to sit tight and not rock the boat. This policy will continue.

President Johnson has done his best to strengthen the moderates in the Kremlin by offering nuclear and disarmament pacts. His policy has met with considerable success. Such men as Premier Kosygin, Foreign Minister Gromyko and Deputy Foreign Minister Kuznetsov (educated at Carnegie), with whom the President has talked face-to-face, seemed favorable to USA-USSR cooperation.

But the hard-liners inside the Kremlin now have won out. This is the group which thought Khrushchev had gone too far in friendship with the United States and that he had received nothing from the United States in return.

The policy of the White House will have to be watchful between the Orthodox Bulgaria and, for the time being, waiting.

THOMAS COLLINS, who writes a Sunday newspaper column called the Golden Years, told his readers one day how to combat inflation.

He said: "Services are one of the major components of the price index--haircuts, laundry, dry-cleaning of suits and dresses, shoe repairs, and so forth. Almost every man now 65 can-and has-used home clippers, done his own laundry, resoled his own shoes, and cut his own grass."

I have mowed my own grass, but I have never cut my own hair.

hair or resoled my shoes, and I doubt that any reader of this magazine has.

In a succeeding sentence, Collins made more sense when he wrote: "Automobiles, wonderful and magic though they are, are about as costly as anything you have--gasoline, taxes, insurance, tags, repairs, depreciation. Life on a bus line wouldn't be so nice, maybe. But it would take care of a lot of inflation."

A STRUCTURAL IRON WORKER must get a thrill out of his work equal to that of a trapeze performer--sometimes we envy both of them.

The husband answered the phone and said "I don't know, call up the weather bureau," and hung up.

"Who was that?" asked the wife.

"I don't know. Some nut wanted to know if the coast was clear."

"Well," snarled the tough, old sergeant, "I suppose when you're discharged you'll just wait around for me to die so you can spit on my grave."

"Not me, Sarge," said the private. "When I get out of this Army I ain't never going to stand in line again."

LATER ON YOU'LL THINK
An insurance salesman had drawn up a $125,000 life insurance policy and try as he might he could not get the prospect to sign the order. Finally the customer said, "Leave it here and give me time to think it over. Then come back and see me in about a month."

The salesman closed his briefcase and was about to depart when he asked, "Whom shall I ask for next month in case you are no longer here?"

A little girl came home with a box of dirt and cautioned her mother to be very careful with it.

"What in the world is it?" her mother asked.

"It's Instant Mud Pies," said the budding homemaker.

About eight out of every ten persons who drowned in boating accidents last year did not use the lifesaving devices which were carried on board. These figures point up a startling situation, in view of the fact that water transportation accidents take nearly 1,500 lives each year in the United States, according to statistics. All but 12 percent of these deaths are from drowning.

In 1965, the latest year for which official figures are available, the death rate from this cause was 7.7 per million population, the same as in 1964, but moderately below the rate recorded in 1960. The boat industry estimates that more than 40,000,000 persons currently take to the water for recreation in boats of various categories, including motorboats, sailboats, rowboats and canoes.

Fatalities associated with water transportation happen most frequently in late spring and summer, when boating activities are at their peak. More than 40 percent occur in the three month period May-July, with the monthly death count fluctuating around 200. Boating fatalities remain at a high level in August, during which month the death toll in recent years has hovered at about 160.

About 80 percent of all fatalities in water transportation accidents, or some 1,200 per year, result from drownings involving small boats - watercraft propelled by a small motor or oars.

The day was hot, the squad hopeless, the sergeant exasperated. He halted his shambling crew and cried in despair: "I dunno what to do with you!"

Hopefully, the bonehards looked towards the shady trees. "Yes, yes, I know," said the now?

Only when the leaders of the massive unions gather is there unity, fraternity, even if not egalite. There are about 6,000 out-of-town labor leaders of assorted rank here now, and they spend most of their time chanting and cheering for Hubert Humphrey.

They're going to make or break this campaign for the gay and ebullient Vice President. It's all for one, and one for all. And that means Mr. Humphrey has just about the most powerful political machine (with no apologies to Mayor Daley, for he's right in the middle of it) this nation ever has seen.

Nearly all of these labor officials will return to some local union, or joint council, or state office, or international union headquarters, to fight for "HHH."

There's an intellectual conditioned reflex with paints the traditional labor chiefs as high-button-shoes Neanderthals, because so many have had so little formal education. Well, they're mighty bright politicians. There is, for example, a former freight handler, C. L. Dennis, a union leader who last Monday turned an empty hole into a massive Humphrey demonstration. Not only that, but he got Mayor Daley and Hubert Humphrey into the same picture on the same date accepting gold-painted shovels - which seemed to seal the impression that "Hizzoner" will go for HHH on the first ballot.

Mr. Dennis is international president of the Brotherhood of Railway and Airline Clerks, which plans to construct a headquarters down the road from the big Chicago airport.

He arranged to declare a groundbreaking ceremony, and to top it with an 8 a.m. breakfast in tribute to the Vice President. Eight hundred prestigious guests turned out. Most of them were powerful Chicago labor leaders, running the stretch from the American Federation of Television and Radio Artists to the National Maritime Union. Heavily sprinkled among them were influential railroad and airline executives.

Cheer after cheer rolled over the hot orange juice and cold coffee, as Mr. Humphrey got off quip after quip and reminded his audience that he had been to more local meetings and for much longer, than most business agents.

What's more, he knows more union officials by their first names than does George Meany, Mr. Labor himself. This was obvious to those who were with him last Sunday night out at O'Hare Inn. He flew in the night before the breakfast though he might have had to turn right around if General Eisenhower died that night.

Though fatigued, he mixed with Brotherhood officials, and this country by no means when the Secret Service suitably noted the second floor suite was crowding up, they tried to speed out wives. Mr. Humphrey spotted this quickly, weeded out some of the Secret Service, and posed with the ladies for almost an hour.

This is where the campaign is. Certainly the headline news is in his attack on city jungles, looting and riots. But the machine's the thing. Over at the Hotel Drake, the AFL-CIO's Al Barkan, director of the Committee on Political Education (COPE) is ensconced near George Meany's suite amid data processing statistics and convention floor plans.

By the time the Democrats get gaveled to order for nominations, Barkan and Meany will know exactly the floor location of the 280 union leaders who are delegates that it would betray the labor movement not to ballot for Mr. Humphrey.

And from the labor men on the floor, word will feed back on progress and weakness. This will be relayed to the Humphrey inner sanctum, somewhere in that upright concrete jungle known as the Hilton. Whenever necessary, George Meany will lift his direct line to the Vice President. Thus it was in 1960.

Mr. Meany had access to Bob and Jack Kennedy any time he wished, including that famous night when it became known that the presidential nominee had chosen Lyndon Johnson.

Mr. Meany called "Jack" very early that a.m. But Mr. Meany and Mr. Johnson have learned to love each other since - and dearly, too.

This will be a sophisticated political operation, using sophisticated political weaponry - data processing, for example.

Hundreds of Democratic delegates know that the strongest campaign machinery is run by labor in their states. They know that Mr. Barkan's COPE headquarters has at least one million names in California; 800,000 and more in Ohio; 500,000 in Texas; and another million in Pennsylvania (just to mention a few on labor's own computer.)

In state after state, these names are on a memory tape, in such a fashion that one button can put tens of thousands of activists into action anywhere.

Small wonder that Al Barkan could truthfully tell some of his labor colleagues two weeks ago that "organizationally and mechanically we will have the best campaign since the (1955 AFL-CIO) merger. It's going to be the greatest labor political effort in history on every level."

And then, referring to the morning after the 1948 election, Barkan added, "when Harry Truman was told that he had won, first thing he said was 'labor did it.'"

Then he added: "Regardless of the odds and the difficulties today, we can make the difference. We have 15 million members and their families. We expect Humphrey to say, just as Harry Truman and JFK did, 'labor did it.'"

There just is no other man in public and political life who has such support. Vice President Humphrey, who wayback in the early '40s began teaching workers education classes, now is collecting his IOU's - these are more than gilt-covered shovels and thousands of honorary labor convention badges.

They'll add up to millions of votes - not enough perhaps - but millions nonetheless.

THE CRISIS OF DISORDER
By Jenkin Lloyd Jones
ON MONDAY, for the first time in American history, a national political convention will open under a threat by outsiders to disrupt it.

Although the ex-comedian, Dick Gregory, backed off from his last winter assertion that the Democrats would not be allowed to meet in Chicago at all, the uproar planners have been busy.

Something called the National Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam has pledged itself to "give Mayor Richard Daley the cops a hard time." There are as many commotionmakers as possible, but the Democratic Credentials Committee is not stupid, and it may prove more difficult to get into the vaults at Fort Knox.

THE real hope for lousing up the convention is to create an atmosphere of chaos and confusion throughout the city. To this end there have been dire claims that 100,000 demonstrators may march on the convention hall on the night the nominee is picked. This, at least, is the scheme of David Dellinger, editor of the leftist magazine, the liberator.

Picketing at downtown hotels, it is hoped, will impede the movement of delegates to and from the convention. An outfit called the Youth International Party (Yippies) swears it will have a "grope-in" sleep-out in Lincoln Park and a "nude-in" swim in Lake Michigan. This ought to create a riotous scene on the Outer Drive.

MAYOR Daley is not going to be idle, either. It's his turf, too, and his reputation will be riding with the convention. There's a half-mile chain link and barbed wire fence around the hall. Six thousand officers will be assigned to protect the hall and clear the route to it. He's going to have another 6,000 national guardsmen handy.

The urge to find self-esteem and fulfillment by getting themselves knocked in the head, whether by the Praetorian Guard, the Cossacks or the Chicago police, is a familiar characteristic of unstable and hysterical personalities. But international communism has something else in mind.

It is to portray an America filled with people outraged at capitalist imperialism, at powerful white racists and at the slaughter of noble fighters for people's democracies, such as the Viet Cong. To those living at a distance from America, a picture is to be presented of a country on the Threshold of revolution.

To say that this fancy is unsuitable to any citizens not behind the Iron Curtain is not true. Public opinion polls in Sweden, for one example, indicate that normally sophisticated Swedes have bought most of it.

An apparently violent, confused and riven America could command little sympathy in her leadership or sympathy for her policies.

TO THIS end a major effort has been made to capture the black-power movement for the benefit of international communism. Stokely Carmichael's anti-Americanism from Havana and Hanoi is part of the business. It is hoped to control many of the major university student newspapers and to encourage student revolts. The program of the Students for a Democratic Society in no way veers from the Moscow line.

For this is a year of crisis in Eastern Europe, and there is no better way to blunt a crisis than to throw one's chief opponent into confusion.

THE confusion has already gone pretty far. Not since Abraham Lincoln had to be spirited across rebel Baltimore on the way to his first inauguration has an American President had to behave like a fugitive in his own country. Lyndon Johnson speaks chiefly from military reservations now.

Vice President Hubert Humphrey has been shouted down in California. Secretary of State Dean Rusk has been forced to slip into a New York banquet hall through an adjoining garage. And, of course, the two hours of obscenities and abuse which our incredible Attorney General Ramsey Clark meekly took in his office during the "poor people's" insanity in Washington was gleefully reported in full in the world Communist press.

FOR the next few days the burning glass will be focused on Chicago. It would be inaccurate to describe as pro-Communist the whole fruit salad of hippies, pot-advocates, black militants, free-lovers, draft-opponents, "concerned" preachers, student hell-raisers and the peace-at-any-price-niks who are converging on the Windy City. But every Communist-lying organization in America is up to its neck in the fight, and most of these are led by cool pros.

The crisis of disorder facing this country by no means when the Secret Service suitably noted the second floor suite was crowding up, they tried to speed out wives. Mr. Humphrey spotted this quickly, weeded out some of the Secret Service, and posed with the ladies for almost an hour.

This is where the campaign is. Certainly the headline news is in his attack on city jungles, looting and riots. But the machine's the thing. This will be a sophisticated political operation, using sophisticated political weaponry - data processing, for example.

Hundreds of Democratic delegates know that the strongest campaign machinery is run by labor in their states. They know that Mr. Barkan's COPE headquarters has at least one million names in California; 800,000 and more in Ohio; 500,000 in Texas; and another million in Pennsylvania (just to mention a few on labor's own computer.)

In state after state, these names are on a memory tape, in such a fashion that one button can put tens of thousands of activists into action anywhere.

Small wonder that Al Barkan could truthfully tell some of his labor colleagues two weeks ago that "organizationally and mechanically we will have the best campaign since the (1955 AFL-CIO) merger. It's going to be the greatest labor political effort in history on every level."

And then, referring to the morning after the 1948 election, Barkan added, "when Harry Truman was told that he had won, first thing he said was 'labor did it.'"

Then he added: "Regardless of the odds and the difficulties today, we can make the difference. We have 15 million members and their families. We expect Humphrey to say, just as Harry Truman and JFK did, 'labor did it.'"

There just is no other man in public and political life who has such support. Vice President Humphrey, who wayback in the early '40s began teaching workers education classes, now is collecting his IOU's - these are more than gilt-covered shovels and thousands of honorary labor convention badges.

They'll add up to millions of votes - not enough perhaps - but millions nonetheless.

Labor's Most Powerful Machine "In History" In Full Swing for HHH for Chicago

Chicago: -- Most of the smoke-filled hotel rooms in this hyperthyroid city come with wall-to-wall carpeting. Almost everybody is mad at everybody else.

They're going to make or break this campaign for the gay and ebullient Vice President. It's all for one, and one for all. And that means Mr. Humphrey has just about the most powerful political machine (with no apologies to Mayor Daley, for he's right in the middle of it) this nation ever has seen.

A woman looks at her husband and wonders if she would not have been happier single, then at her children and decides she wouldn't.

A good woman usually prefaces her piece of gossip with the remark: "Isn't it terrible the way people talk scandal?"

"MORE DIVORCES ARE caused by women talking too much than anything else. A man learns at an early age to keep his mouth shut. If he doesn't, somebody is liable to knock his block off. But nobody knocks a little girl's block off, so she says what she pleases for the rest of her life." So contends a justice of the peace named Charles Claypool.

A common thread runs through college student riots. Their college education isn't relevant.

Some of the odd-ball protestors don't know what is relevant.

This is particularly true of the pampered youth from well - do - to - do families, whose misguided parents have nevermade them do a day's work.

In the light of the frequently voiced criticism, the deliberate restructuring of the liberal arts program at Culver - Stockton College at Canton is interesting.

No radical changes were made after a year's faculty study at the small, church - related, liberal arts college. The required courses are in education and psychology, natural science, humanities, social science and fine arts.

One invocation will be in the English requirement.

Instead of packing it in the freshman year it will be split.

One semester on spoken and written communication will be taken in the freshman year, a second in the junior year to help maintain and further develop writing skills. A major course in speech will round out the Communications emphasis.

Practical parents may be offended by the emphasis on fine arts.

This is wrong.

The object of a liberal arts education is to teach a student how to make the most of his environment, how to obtain maximum enjoyment from it and to make the greatest contribution to it.

Culture cannot be neglected.

Study of fine arts may appear to be fluff and far removed from the serious business of making a living.

This isn't always true.

If the boss likes Beethoven the employee should at least know that he isn't a Notre Dame fullback.

The new fine arts program will include a lecture course on basic studies in the performing arts and a laboratory type participation in one area of the arts - music, drama or art.

This laboratory experience is particularly desirable in this age of television emphasis, which is producing a crop of watchers instead of a creative and innovative group of youthful doors.

Those, who try to sing, play a musical instrument or draw, will have a greater appreciation of the skill of the masters.

A semester course in health has been added. A related course in psychology will deal with the mental aspects of human behavior.

Among the restructured courses is one on college issues in the education- psychology field. It is designed for freshmen orientation. It deals with use of the library, student habits and school tradition but also will include such topics as religion, drugs, sex and other subjects of concern to college students.

The senior year will be capped with a citizenship and world responsibility course to prepare graduates for life after college.

If more colleges made an effort to update their curriculum they would be in a better position to curb student revolt but that its a problem of secondary importance.

Training a student how to live and be effective in modern society is the purpose of a liberal arts education. Culver - Stockton has taken a step in the right direction. The need for change and adaptation to new requirements of society will continue.

A college cannot rest long on its oars with revolutionary change swirling about it.

Television has caused drastic reforms to be made in the national political conventions.

More reforms are in order to make the spectacle palatable to a majority of Americans.

Brevity and business-like conduct of the public's business are the urgent need of these serious times.

This year the National Broadcasting Company and the Columbia Broadcasting System are giving full coverage to the conventions.

The American Broadcasting Company is not giving full coverage for economy reasons.

It may be that ABC has stumbled onto something very valuable through necessity.

While NBC and CBS are knocking themselves out showing both the important and trivial events of the convention and buttonholing delegates for many interviews that will be a bore, ABC will present convention highlights in between regularly scheduled programs.

Dyed-in-the-wool TV fans don't care much about conventions or in having their regular programs interrupted.

If the ABC convention highlights are of high quality they may prove to be as popular as regular television fare and more so than many standbys. If this happens many viewers will switch from NBC and CBS to ABC.

Political campaigns are too long.

Voters need enough time to inquire about the candidates and to investigate their records and talk over their qualifications with their friends.

Giving them additional time is just as waste of effort and money and puts the candidates to unnecessary expense in order to be competitive.

Minds were made up in Missouri many weeks ago.

The final weeks were given over largely to smears and accusations that contributed nothing to anyone's knowledge and which changed few if any minds.

Most Missourians were weary and tired when election day rolled around.

Heard at the Coffee table: "The only time money goes very far these days is when a quarter rolls under the bed."

A distinguished advertising consultant, after a speech to retailers, was asked to name the outstanding characteristic of good advertising.

"News," he replied without hesitation.

"Advertising which is not news is not advertising. Good advertising contains all the elements of a front page news story. It must contain fresh information which concerns the vital interests of the reader," he said.

In the early days of the newspaper the importance of advertising as news was recognized by giving the front page to advertising and placing other information on inside pages.

In colonial America, the listing of goods arriving from foreign ports was the most exciting of all local news. The health, comfort, and wealth of the whole community were related to ship arrivals.

The arrival of new products to local retail outlets is no longer subject to the hazards of wind and sea. However, news about goods and services may be as exciting as two centuries ago.

Grocery advertisements are compact news stories which affect every family budget. They are studied with more intensity than any other economic news.

Advertising of dress shops contains more practical fashion news than articles originating in Paris or Rome.

The classified sections of local newspapers give a running account of real estate values, employment conditions, population movements, and agricultural and industrial development.

Washington - Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

DREW PEARSON SAYS: Invasion splits communist world asunder; Kremlin hardliners dictated move on Czechoslovakia; Ulbricht feared spread of intellectual revolt to East Germany.

WASHINGTON--In the opinion of this observer, who has visited most of the countries of Eastern Europe, repercussions following the Russian invasion of Czechoslovakia will be threefold:

1. The Communist world has been split wide open, and the split will continue.
2. The attempt on the part of President Johnson to build bridges to the European Communist world will receive a temporary, though not permanent, setback.
3. The people of the Soviet Union, who have developed increasing contacts with the outside world, are almost certain to break out with some form of intellectual revolt. It may not come immediately, but it will come.

In the end, the hard-line in the Kremlin which ordered the Red Army to March into Czechoslovakia will be shown to have committed one of the most serious errors in Soviet History. Mikhail Suslov, No. 1 defender of Josef Stalin and the man primarily responsible for the ouster of Nikita Khrushchev, unquestionably was behind the Red Army order.

Suslov was described by Svetlana Stalin as the most dangerous man in the Kremlin. My own observations in Moscow convince me that he is a consistent, unreconstructed American-hater.

ULBRICHT FORESAW SHOWDOWN

The man next to Suslov responsible for the Czech crisis is weather-beaten, bearded Walter Ulbricht, the hard-line Communist leader of East Germany. Ulbricht paid a courtesy call to Czechoslovakia warden last week where he was coolly received. Earlier, he was booted in Bratislava.

As a result he is reported to have returned to East Berlin more convinced than ever that there must be a showdown between the Orthodox Bulgaria and, for the time being, waiting Communist world and the Communist liberals. Ulbricht has been having troubles with the New Czech regime for some time. East German refugees, unable to cross the wall to West Berlin, have been going to Czechoslovakia where there are no barriers, then on to West Germany.

The New Czech regime removed all barbed wire barricades along the West German border as well as all passenger restrictions. There was a free flow of trade and people across the border.

This meant not only that East Germans could get back into West Germany via bridges to the European Communist world will receive a temporary, though not permanent, setback.

Earlier this year, the new Czech regime had worked out plans for resumption of full diplomatic relations with West Germany. There were some differences regarding the Munich pact negotiated by Hitler in 1938, which the Germans wanted to declare null and void, and forget altogether. These differences were finally compromised and the two countries were ready to sign a pact formally resuming diplomatic relations when at the last minute the Czechs backed out.

They let it be known on the side that the East Germans objected.

Since that time the trade has increased between Czechoslovakia and West Germany, and for all practical purposes they have normal, though not formal, relations.

LIBERALS VS. CHARD-LINERS

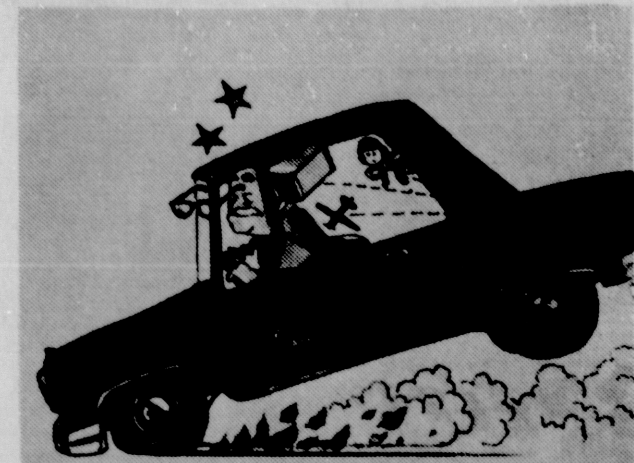

The split in the European Communist world had started even before the Red Army invaded Prague. It will now courtesy call to Czechoslovakia warden.

The lineup will be: Yugoslavia, Rumania, the French and Italian Communist Party, and, of course, Czechoslovakia on the liberal side. On the hard-line side are the Soviet, East Germany, Bulgaria and, for the time being, waiting

An Editors Outlook

By Jenkin Lloyd Jones

THE CRISIS OF DISORDER By Jenkin Lloyd Jones

ON MONDAY, for the first time in American history, a national political convention will open under a threat by outsiders to disrupt it.

Although the ex-comedian, Dick Gregory, backed off from his last winter assertion that the Democrats would not be allowed to meet in Chicago at all, the upsur planners have been busy.

Something called the National Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam has pledged itself to "give Mayor Richard Daley's cops a hard time." There are plans to infiltrate the hall with as many commotionmakers as possible, but the Democratic Credentials Committee is not stupid, and it may prove more difficult to get into the galleries than to get into the vaults at Fort Knox.

THE real hope for lousing up the convention is to create an atmosphere of chaos and confusion throughout the city. To this end there have been dire claims that 100,000 demonstrators may march on the convention hall on the night the nominee is picked. This, at least, is the scheme of David Dellinger, editor of the leftist magazine, the liberator.

Picketing at downtown hotels, it is hoped, will impede the movement of delegates to and from the convention. An outfit called the Youth International Party (Yippies) swears it will have a "grope-in" sleep-out in Lincoln Park and a "nude-in" swim in Lake Michigan. This ought to create accordion crashes on the Outer Drive.

MAYOR Daley is not going to be idle, either. It's his turf, and his reputation will be riding with the convention. There's a half-mile chain link and barbed wire fence around the hall. Six thousand officers will be assigned to protect the hall and clear the routes to it. He's going to have another 6,000 national guardsmen handy.

The urge to find self-esteem and fulfillment by getting themselves knocked in the head, whether by the Praetorian Guard, the Cossacks or the Chicago police, is a familiar characteristic of unstable and hysterical personalities. But every international communism has something else in mind.

It is to portray an America filled with people outraged at capitalist imperialism, at powerful white racists and at the slaughter of noble fighters for people's democracies, such as the Viet Cong. To those living at a distance from America, a wait around for me to die so you can spit on my grave."

"Not me, Sarge," said the private. "When I get out of this Army I ain't never going to stand in line again."

LATER ON YOU'LL THINK An insurance salesman had drawn up a $125,000 life insurance policy and try as he might he could not get the prospect to sign the order.

Finally the customer said, "Leave it here and give me time to think it over. Then come back and see me in about a month."

The salesman closed his briefcase and was about to depart when he asked, "Whom shall I ask for next month in case you are no longer here?"

A little girl came home with a box of dirt and cautioned her mother to be very careful with it.

"What in the world is it?" her mother asked.

"It's Instant Mud Pies," said the budding homemaker.

About eight out of every ten persons who drowned in boating accidents last year did not use the lifesaving devices which were carried on board. These figures point up a startling situation, in view of the fact that water transportation accidents take nearly 1,500 lives each year in the United States, according to statistics. All but 12 percent of these deaths are from drowning.

In 1965, the latest year for which official figures are available, the death rate from this cause was 7.7 per million population, the same as in 1964, but moderately below the rate recorded in 1960. The boat industry estimates that more than 40,000,000 persons currently take to the water for recreation in boats of various categories, including motorboats, sailboats, rowboats and canoes.

Fatalities associated with water transportation happen most frequently in late spring and summer, when boating activities are at their peak. More than 40 percent occur in the three month period May-July, with the monthly death count fluctuating around 200. Boating fatalities remain at a high level in August, during which month the death toll in recent years has hovered at about 160.

About 80 percent of all fatalities in water transportation accidents, or some 1,200 per year, result from drownings involving small boats - watercraft propelled by a small motor or picture is to be presented of a country on the Threshold of revolution.

To say that this fancy is unsalable to any citizens not behind the Iron Curtain is not true. Public opinion polls in Sweden, for one example, indicate that normally sophisticated Swedes have bought most of it.

An apparently violent, confused and riven America could command little confidence in her leadership or sympathy for her policies.

TO THIS end a major effort has been made to capture the black-power movement for the benefit of international communism. Stokely Carmichael's anti-American oratory from Havana and Hanoi is part of the business. It is hoped to control many of the major university student newspapers and to encourage student revolts. The program of the Students for a Democratic Society in no way veers from the Moscow line.

For this is a year of crisis in Eastern Europe, and there is no better way to blunt a crisis than to throw one's chief opponent into confusion.

THE confusion has already gone pretty far. Not since Abraham Lincoln had to be spirited across rebel Baltimore on the way to his first inauguration has an American President had to behave like a fugitive in his own country. Lyndon Johnson speaks chiefly from military reservations now.

Vice President Hubert Humphrey has been shouted down in California. Secretary of State Dean Rusk has been forced to slip into a New York banquet hall through an adjoining garage.

And, of course, the two hours of obscenity and abuse which our incredible Attorney General Ramsey Clark meekly took in his office during the "poor people's" insanity in Washington was gleefully reported in full in the world Communist press.

FOR the next few days the burning glass will be focused on Chicago. It would be inaccurate to describe as pro-Communist the whole fruit salad of hippies, pot-advocates, black militants, free-lovers, draft-opponents, "concerned" preachers, student hell-raisers and peace-at-any-price-niks who are converging on the Windy City. But every Communist-ling organization in America is up to its neck in the fight, and most of these are led by cool pros.

The crisis of disorder facing this country is by no means totally spontaneous. There's nervousness noted the second floor plenty of world politics in it, suite was crowding up, they tried to weed out wives. Mr. Humphrey spotted this quickly, but millions nonetheless.

sail, a paddle, or oars, and with a passenger capacity of less than 100.

About an additional 100 deaths annually are attributed to drownings associated with larger watercraft. The remaining deaths - about 12 percent of the total - result largely from falls, explosions and fires, machinery accidents, and asphyxiation by gas while in a boat.

Statistics point out that the hazards of death in boating also vary greatly from region to region, reflecting differences in the proximity and utilization of bodies of water, as well as the age and sex composition of the resident population. In 1963-64, Alaska continued to report a far higher mortality from this cause than any other part of the country - 187.4 per million population, or about 25 times the national average.

Many other states have relatively unfavorable records. Louisiana, with 27.8 boating deaths per million population, was highest among Gulf Coast states, with Florida next at 15.6. In New England, Maine was by far the highest with 21.3. On the Pacific Coast the rates were 17.5 and 15.2 in Washington and Oregon respectively. In each of these states the rate of fatalities was at least twice that for the United States as a whole. The rate was nearly that high in other coastal states: Mississippi, Alabama and South Carolina. These states not only border the sea, but also contain sizeable bodies of inland water.

The day was hot, the squad hopeless, the sergeant exasperated. He halted his shambling crew and cried in despair: "I dunno what to do with you!"

Hopefully, the boneheads looked towards the shady trees.

"Yes, yes, I know," said the sergeant wearily. "But I haven't got enough ropes."

What is it that has 198 legs, feathers and goes "Bah, bah, bah"? Nine Indians singing the Whiffenpoof Song.

This isn't such a bad old world after all, once you get used to being nervous about everything.

A lady told her friend she wanted to go on a diet and asked for suggestions.

"I've heard of a wonderful new diet pill out now," said her friend. "It paralyzes your mouth and you can't eat!"

Lots of embarrassing moments wouldn't be nearly so embarrassing if they only lasted a moment.

Mr. Dennis is international president of the Brotherhood of Railway and Airline Clerks, which plans to construct a headquarters down the road from the big Chicago airport.

He arranged to declare a groundbreaking ceremony, and to top it with an 8 a.m. breakfast in tribute to the Vice President. Eight hundred prestigious guests turned out. Most of them were powerful Chicago labor leaders, running the stretch from the American Federation of Television and Radio Artists to the National Maritime Union. Heavily sprinkled among them were influential railroad and airline executives.

Cheer after cheer rolled over the hot orange juice and cold coffee, as Mr. Humphrey got off quip after quip and reminded his audience that he had been to "labor did it."

Gail Dunn, daughter of Mrs. Zella Dunn, 834 East Kathleen, and Gerald Thomas Conduct were married at 1 p.m. last Saturday at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Conduct, 915 North Ranney.

The Rev. Henry Smith officiated at the candlelight, double ring ceremony. The bride, given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Dwayne Smith, wore a floorlength gown of silk organza over satin. The dress was made by the bride's sister, Mrs. Dwayne Smith. The bodice featured long bell-shaped sleeves. Embroidered silk organza lilies highlighted the gown. An elbow-length veil was secured by a petal headpiece accented with petals.

She carried a white Bible topped with two white orchids and ribbon streamers tied in lovers' knots.

Miss Linda Conduct, the groom's sister, was maid of honor. Best man was Gary Ozment.

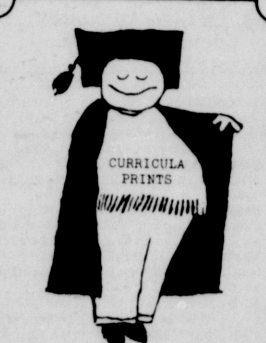

A reception followed. The couple is living at 946 Strouse Ave., Nashville, where both will attend school. Conduct is a house painter for the Nashville Housing Authority and attends Nashville Auto Diesel College. Mrs. Conduct will attend high school.

The POWER of FAITH

Outeiro da Gloria, The Church of Our Lady of Glory of the Knoll in Rio de Janeiro, is probably the oldest church still standing in Rio. Rich in history and legend, it has been a symbol of faith to Brazilians for 300 years.

Legend holds that once there existed on the hill a natural grotto with a likeness of the Virgin Mary in it. The people called her Our Lady of Glory. In 1671 a Portuguese named Antonio Caminha set himself up as caretaker of the grotto and built a rustic chapel to shelter the figure. Pilgrims came from far and near to worship at the shrine.

The shrine grew in fame and a Brotherhood of Our Lady of Glory was founded. In 1699 Claudio Gurgel do Amaral, owner of the knoll property, gave it to the brotherhood. Construction of the present church began around 1714.

During the Empire period in Brazil the church was the church of the royalty and the center of religious life in Rio. The Feast of Our Lady of Glory is celebrated each August 15. During the Monarchy the most famous musical directors and singers would participate and celebrated clergymen would preach at the annual festivities.

Because of its prominent location The Church of Our Lady of Glory catches the eye of foreign travelers in Rio. In the quiet of the famous little church and its museum nearby one can reflect on a history of faith.

Gail Dunn Saturday Bride Of Local Interest

Gail Dunn, daughter of Mrs. Zella Dunn, 834 East Kathleen, and Gerald Thomas Condict were married at 1 p.m. last Saturday at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Condict, 915 North Ranney.

The Rev. Henry Smith officiated at the candlelight, double ring ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Dwayne Smith, wore a floorlength gown of silk organza over satin. The dress was made by the bride's sister, Mrs. Dwayne Smith. The bodice featured long bell-shaped sleeves. Embroidered silk organza lilies highlighted the gown. An elbow-length veil was secured by a petal headpiece accented with petals.

She carried a white Bible topped with two white orchids and ribbon streamers tied in lovers' knots.

Miss Linda Condict, the groom's sister, was maid of honor. Best man was Gary Oment.

A reception followed. The couple is living at 946 Strouse Ave., Nashville, where both will attend school. Condict is a house painter for the Nashville Housing Authority and attends Nashville Auto Diesel College. Mrs. Condict will attend high school.

Tigers Scheduled For Two, Play One Inning Over Three

By The Associated Press
If you don't think this is the year of the pitcher you can't expect any help on your side of the argument from Detroit Tiger or New York Yankee hitters. Far from it.

They flubbed a chance—10 of them in fact—to disprove the statement in a dandy five-hour example of futility Friday night before a 1 a.m. curfew forced an end of activities in a 19-inning, 3-3 tie.

That marathon struggle—longest in the American League this year—came after the Yankees used Tom Tresh's two-run homer for a 2-1 victory in the opener of a doubleheader.

Cape Taps Sikeston For Crown

By Ron Jaynes

CHARLESTON -- Cape Nationals claimed the championship of the Little League invitational baseball tournament by beating Sikeston 5-2 in last night's final.

Illmo - Scott City took third place honors by beating Benton 7-0 behind the four-hit pitching of Bobby McClain.

Cape ended I-S-C's undefeated tournament record Thursday night and returned to keep Sikeston from posting its first tournament title.

Sikeston threatened through the encounter but failed to crack Bob Johnson's victory bid. The right-hander worked out of bases full jams twice before being lifted in the sixth with the sacks full and two outs. Jim Holland relieved Johnson and got the last out of the game.

Rick Dyer came within inches of tying the game in the fifth inning. He smashed a ball down the right field line that curved foul at the last second. Two runners were on base.

Both Illmo-Scott City and Cape took their leads in the first inning and held onto them.

Johnson assisted his cause with a two-run homer in the third inning, that put his team out front 4-1.

Cape Taps Sikeston For Crown

Jeff Jackson, Parma just completed 2 week of baseball training at the Cape Nationals. He is the largest boys baseball training school in the world.

The school is located at Miller, Missouri, and is equipped with seven, playing fields. Four of which are lighted for night play. Boys come to Mickey Owen Baseball School to become either a better hitter, better fielder or pick up advice and hints from experienced coaching personnel.

Jeff played in at least two games per day, weather permitting, following daily practice sessions.

The school, Owen said, has two main objectives. One is to help boys with little or no experience who have been cut from their hometown boys' league teams to develop enough to they can make those teams the following year. Our second goal is to instruct more experienced boys in the fundamentals of major league plays and positions to make them more valuable to their hometown, league, and school teams.

He will probably feel the same as former Yankee great, Phil Rizzuto, "For any youngster with baseball in his blood, I can't imagine a better experience than with Mickey Owen Baseball School."

What have been the five most notable victories by Coach Dan Devine's football teams in his ten years at Missouri? (With point totals based on 5 points for a first-place ballot, 4 for second-place, etc.):

1. 1960 - Mizzou 41, Oklahoma 19 (54)
2. 1960 - Mizzou 21, Navy 14 (46) (1961 Orange Bowl)
3. 1959 - Mizzou 20, Michigan 15 (22)
4. 1961 - Mizzou 10, Kansas 7 (17)
5. 1963 - Mizzou 7, Arkansas 6 (16)

Just missing the cut-off point were the Tigers' 14-10 dispatch of Georgia Tech in the 1962 Bluebonnet bowl, and a 10-7 squeaker over Nebraska here last year.

None of the poll participants agreed 100 percent with the composite result, however, five writers and Coach Devine, who listed his own "top five" selections, had four correct.

They were: Joe McGuff and Dick Wade, Kansas City Star; Bob Broeg, St. Louis Post-Dispatch; Charlie Paulsell, Columbia Tribune; and Marty Edelman, Springfield Leader-Press.

Devine's list omitted the Arkansas victory over his predecessor at Missouri, Frank Broyles. His most-relished wins were:

1. 1960 - Navy; 2. 1959 - Michigan; 3. 1960 - Oklahoma; 4. 1961 - Kansas; 5. 1967 - Nebraska.

The nation's fourth-most successful coach, who grew up in Proctor, Minn., admittedly found it difficult to exclude the 10 triumph over Minnesota's 1961 Rose Bowl champions at Minneapolis, or the 10-7 upset of Oklahoma at Norman in 1964. Dan also had warm remembrances of a pair of 1958 victories, his first year in Columbia, over Kansas State and Colorado.

That '60 win over Oklahoma drew five first-place ballots, and six second-place nominations. Halfback Norris Stevenson's two long touchdowns and runs staked the Tigers to their first win at Norman in 20 years, and boosted them into the nation's No. 1 spot with a 9-0 record.

The pollsters hailed the scuttling of Navy and Joe Bellino -- the Heisman trophy winner -- as a prestige, accomplishment. Missouri's first bowl win was highlighted by a bristling defensive effort that held Navy to minus-8 rushing yards, and Bellino to a 4-yard net.

The rousing finish at Michigan probably has to be rated Devine's most dramatic win. Behind reserve quarterback Bob Haas, the Bengals traveled 75 yards in two minutes, with Haas scoring on a sneak with two seconds to play.

Ron Taylor hobbled off the bench to direct an injury-riddled Tiger team to a second-half comeback against Kansas at Lawrence in '61. Halfback Bill Tobin scored all 10 of Missouri's points to knock K. U. out of major-bowl contention.

The pattern against sixth-ranked Arkansas also involved a fierce turnabout in the second half. A rugged defense, led by end George Seals and guard Ralph Kubinski, had compatible help from sophomore quarterback Gary Lane and halfback Monroe Phelps on the attack. Lane hit end Bud Abell with a key pass deep in Razor back territory. Gus Otto plunged for the score, and specialist Bill Leistritz booted the winning point.

Four of those key figures in that win are still active in professional football ranks -- Seals with Chicago, Lane with Cleveland, Abell with Kansas City, and Otto with Oakland.

El Paso, Tex., Drops Opener at Farmington

FARMINGTON, N. M. (AP) Eugene, Ore., and Chicago, Ill., took first round victories Friday as the Connie Mack World Series baseball tournament opened here.

In more first round action today, the two Connie Mack teams, with the best records collided in an afternoon game.

Nashville, Tenn., which won 53 and lost 8 in the regular season, was to meet Cincinnati, winner of 44 games with only three losses.

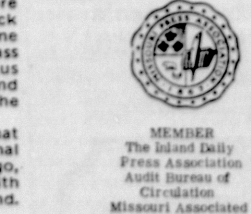

In tonight's last first round game, host Farmington plays Bridgeport, Conn.

Eugene rallied for four runs in the sixth inning to defeat Downey, Calif., 5-3, Chicago put together the pitching of Bill Henderson and five El Paso errors for a 8-3 victory over the Texas team.

El Paso the South Plains Regional winner at Sikeston, Mo., and Downey meet in tonight's second game in loser's bracket action in the double-elimination tournament.

Gagliano Triples in Tie Breaker

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Phil Gagliano stroked one hit in five times to the plate against Pittsburgh last night, but it was a triple, and it couldn't have been more timely.

It came with two out of the eleventh inning, and the score was 2-2. Gagliano lined it to right center for a 3-2 vinal, scoring Mike Shannon, who was on base after being hit by a pitch from Ron Kline.

There was another hero-Redbird last night. Orlando Cepeda tied the game in the sixth with a 2-run homer.

The Pirates' scores came in the second and sixth innings. A throwing error by Julian Javier in the second allowed Roberto Clemente to score as the Cardinal second baseman tried to complete a double play to first.

In the sixth, Maury Wills scored from third when Javier watched Clemente's grounder go through his legs. Bob Gibson 18-5 was scheduled to go after his 19th straight win this afternoon against the Pirates' Bob Moose 5-8.

Hank Aaron, the Atlanta rough-hitter, speaks nervously and swings a big bat.

Aaron was honored before the Braves-Philadelphia game at Atlanta Friday night and he was so nervous he couldn't finish his remarks.

He felt right at home with a bat in his hands, however, as he drove in four runs, three with a homer, in leading the Braves to a 6-0 victory.

St. Louis nipped Pittsburgh 32 in 11 innings, Cincinnati topped the New York Mets 4-2, Houston edged the Chicago Cubs 3-2 and San Francisco trounced Los Angeles 8-3 in other National League games.

In the American League, Boston beat Baltimore 4-3, the Chicago White Sox topped Minnesota 4-2, Cleveland took Washington 6-2, the New York Yankees beat Detroit 2-1 and then played the Tigers to a 3-3 stalemate in a game halted by curfew after 19 innings and Oakland walloped California 9-4.

After receiving a car, a truckload of gasoline, a truckload of soft drinks and many other gifts, Aaron thanked God for giving him the ability to play baseball and thanked those who had anything to do with or turned out for his night.

"I had a lot of other things I wanted to say, but I couldn't get them out," Aaron said after the game. "I was really nervous. I had to take a pill this afternoon to relax."

Once the game started, Aaron proceeded to make the Phillies nervous. He drove in the only run Pat Jarvis needed with a grounder in the third inning and clinched it with a three-run homer in the fifth. It was his 23rd of the season and 504th of the career.

Husband Comes Home with Fish And A Story Which Matches

Dear Ann Landers: Every Saturday morning for the past month my husband has been getting up at 5:30 a.m. to go fishing -- he said. He always comes home the following day at noon--with beautiful fish and a report on what a great time he had. I was especially pleased because the fish were cleaned and I didn't have the mess in my kitchen.

This morning I was turning his pockets inside out before I put the pants in the washer and I ran into a receipt for $6 worth of pike from a local market. The fish was purchased last Saturday.

My husband has been telling me he goes fishing with two buddies. Now I wonder if the three of them are up to something, or is it just my husband and he is lying about the other two fellows. Should I check with their wives? What does this smell like to you? -- AGNES

Dear Ag: It smells fishy. But keep it in the family, please. Calling the wives will not improve the aroma.

Give your husband the receipt and tell him it was not necessary for him to buy fish if his luck was bad. He'll love you for letting him off the hook -- and there just might be a chance that he is not guilty.

Dear Ann Landers: Please

print this letter for every glad, too. Thanks for an excellent letter.

Dear Ann Landers: My fiancé has a 13-year-old son who came to live with him last year. His ex-wife has had the boy for seven years and says she can't handle him. The boy has stolen things from school lockers and recently he took a teacher's purse. This boy has plenty of money (too much), which he gets from his grandparents. Why does he steal? What can be done about it? -- PUZZLED MARYA

Dear Marya: Many kids steal because they feel unloved. The objects they steal are substitutes for the love they need and do not get. At this point the boy needs psychiatric care in addition to some time and attention from at least one of his parents.

Too many couples go from matrimony to acrimony. Don't let your marriage flop before it gets started. Send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Marriage -- What To Expect." Send your request to Ann Landers in care of your newspaper enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

If You Were the Judge Sight of Worm in Food Grounds for Suit

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Audrey was an attractive blonde who knew how to prepare an attractive meal. While giving a dinner party one night, however, she came face to face with an unattractive looking worm that was embedded in a kernel of corn. Turning white, the gorgeous girl suddenly became disgorgeous and sued the company that had prepared and distributed the can of corn for the roller-coasting of her stomach.

"As far as I'm concerned," she told the judge, "the early bird that catches the worm can have it. The one I saw made me weak for a week."

"If she had found half of a worm," responded the attorney for the canning company, "I would understand her suing my client. As it is, however, she didn't eat the worm, she didn't bite it and she didn't take it into her mouth. All she did was to look at it. Therefore, she's not entitled to collect anything."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you permit Audrey to collect for her confrontation with the worm?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! He held that a person can collect for fright and physical upset caused by seeing a foreign substance, such as a worm, in food.

How to keep from getting lost in Chicago.

Another big story is about to break and we don't intend to let a single detail of our own state's role get lost in that crowd of delegates. As we did in Miami Beach, we'll follow every historic move for you in Chicago. Around the clock. From the caucus rooms to the convention floor. Whether it's national, regional or local coverage, we've got what it takes to do the job. That's because our own seasoned staff is backed by more than 150 Associated Press political news editors, photographers and on-the-spot reporters. And we'll cover every angle of our state delegation's convention story. Who they are. What they say. How they vote. That's why, no matter how confusing things get in Chicago, you'll never get lost reading this newspaper.
